(4) Where the relevant person has no aggregate income for the relevant year, there shall be ascertained for the purposes of section 43 the amount of any adjusted loss from a source of his for the basis period for the relevant year or the aggregate of any adjusted loss from each of his sources for its appropriate basis period for the relevant year, as the case may be, which would have fallen to have been deducted pursuant to subsection (2) but for the absence of aggregate income.

Partnerships generally

55. (1) Subject to this section and sections 56 to 59, in the case of a business of a partnership (in this section referred to as the relevant partnership) and in relation to a person who is a partner in the relevant partnership throughout the period during which he was such a partner it shall for the purposes of this Act be postulated that—

- (a) there has been a transfer to that person (in this section referred to as the sole proprietor) of the business and assets of the relevant partnership together with all rights and liabilities of the partners in relation thereto;
- (b) the subject matter of the transfer constitutes a business (in this section and section 56 referred to as the proprietorship business) of the sole proprietor carried on by him in a manner similar to the way in which the relevant partnership business was carried on and in particular that the accounts of the relevant partnership business, made up for any period, are the accounts of the proprietorship business made up for that period.

(2) There shall be ascertained in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this section and of this Part what would be, but for any provisions of any of the following subsections, the adjusted income in this section referred to as the provisional adjusted income of the sole proprietor from his proprietorship business for the basis period for a year of assessment.

(3) The divisible income of the proprietorship business for the basis period for a year of assessment shall be taken to be an amount found by the deduction from the provisional adjusted income of the sole proprietor from that business for that period of the total amount of—

- (a) any remuneration payable by virtue of any partnership arrangement of the relevant partnership to any partner therein for that period or for any part thereof;
- (b) any interest payable to any partner in the relevant partnership for that period or any part thereof in connection with all capital moneys paid or advanced by him (otherwise than in a fiduciary capacity, unless in that capacity he is a partner in the relevant partnership) to the relevant partnership; and
- (c) any expenses incurred during that period in relation to any partner in the relevant partnership and charged in the relevant partnership accounts (whether or not for that period) which—
 - (i) would have been private or domestic expenses if incurred by that partner; or
 - (ii) are reimbursements of private or domestic expenses incurred by that partner.

(4) The amount of the divisible income of the proprietorship business for the basis period for a year of assessment ascertained under subsection (3) shall be treated as having accrued evenly over that period and shall be divided between those who were partners of the relevant partnership in that period in accordance with the sharing arrangements (subsisting from time to time during that period) of those partners in like manner as that amount would have been divisible between those partners if that amount had been divisible profits from the business of the relevant partnership accruing evenly over that period; and so much of that divisible income as is thus found to be attributable to the sole proprietor shall be taken to be his share of that divisible income for that period.

(5) The adjusted income of the sole proprietor from the proprietorship business for the basis period for a year of assessment shall be taken to be the aggregate of—

- (a) so much of the total amount deducted under subsection (3) in ascertaining the divisible income of that business for that period as relates to any remuneration, interest or expenses payable to or incurred in relation to the sole proprietor; and
- (b) his share, ascertained under subsection (4), of the divisible income of that business for that period.

(6) For the purposes of subsection (3) of this section, the amount of any remuneration or interest shall be ascertained whenever necessary by applying subsection 19(3) as if references therein to Chapter 4 were references to subsection (3) of this section.

(7) In subsection (4) divisible profits shall not be taken to include any items of the kind referred to in paragraphs (3)(a), (b) and (c).

Successive partnerships

56. (1) Where, apart from this section, the circumstances are such that—

- (a) section 55 applies to a business of a partnership (in this section referred to as the old partnership), to a person (in this section referred to as the continuing partner) who is a partner therein and to the period during which he was such a partner;
- (b) at some time after the commencement of that application, section 55 applies to a business of another partnership (in this section referred to as the new partnership) to a partner therein who is the continuing partner and to the period during which he was such a partner;
- (c) those periods are successive periods;
- (d) those businesses are substantially similar and to all intents and purposes (in so far as the continuing partner is concerned) are carried on successively as if they were one continuing business (apart from the assets of each of those partnerships and the rights and liabilities of the respective partners in relation to each of those businesses, partnerships and assets), section 55 in its application to the business of the old partnership, to the business of the new partnership and to the continuing partner as the sole proprietor of each of the proprietorship businesses constituted under that section in relation to the old and new partnerships shall be subject to such modifications provided for by this section for such period of time (being a period, in this section referred to as the material period, some part of which will comprise the whole or part of the period during which the continuing partner was a partner in the old partnership and some part of which will comprise the whole or part of the period during which the continuing partner was a partner in the new partnership) as may be requisite in all the circumstances for the purposes of the application of this section, in conjunction with section 55 as so modified, to the continuing partner in relation to the businesses of the old and new partnerships and to such other matters as are provided for by this section.

(2) Notwithstanding subsection (1)—

- (a) this section shall not apply if accounts of the business of the old partnership have been made up for a period of twelve months ending on the day prior to the day on which the new partnership was formed and accounts of the business of the new partnership have been made up for a period of twelve months commencing on the day the new partnership was formed; and
- (b) where, prior to the application of this section to the continuing partner, section 55 has been applied to him in relation to the old partnership and any assessment has been made wholly or partly in consequence of that application of section 55, the subsequent application of this section shall not invalidate the assessment.

(3) Notwithstanding that, but for this section, upon the formation of the new partnership during the material period the proprietorship business of the continuing partner in relation to the old partnership would have ceased and the proprietorship business of the continuing partner in relation to the new partnership would have commenced, those two proprietorship businesses shall throughout the material period be treated as one continuing proprietorship business (in this section referred to as the continuing proprietorship business) of the continuing partner, carried on by him in a manner similar to the way in which the businesses of the old and new partnerships were carried on and, without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing, the accounts of those businesses made up for any period shall be taken to be the accounts of the continuing proprietorship business made up for that period.

(4) There shall be ascertained in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this section and of this Part what would be, but for any provisions of any of the following subsections, the adjusted income (in this section referred to as the provisional adjusted income) of the continuing partner from his continuing proprietorship business for the basis period for a year of assessment.

(5) The divisible income of the continuing proprietorship business for the basis period for a year of assessment shall be taken to be an amount found by the deduction from the provisional adjusted income of the continuing partner from that business for that period of the total amount of—

- (a) any remuneration payable by virtue of any partnership arrangement of the old or new partnership to any partner in the old or new partnership for that period or for any part thereof;
- (b) any interest payable to any partner in the old or new partnership for that period or any part thereof in connection with all capital moneys paid or advanced by him (otherwise than in a fiduciary capacity, unless in that capacity he is a partner in the old or new partnership) to the old or new partnership; and

- (c) any expenses incurred during that period in relation to any partner in the old or new partnership and charged in the accounts of the old or new partnership (whether or not for that period) which—
- (i) would have been private or domestic expenses if incurred by that partner; or
 - (ii) are reimbursements of private or domestic expenses incurred by that partner.

(6) The amount of the divisible income of the continuing proprietorship business for the basis period for a year of assessment ascertained under subsection (5)—

- (a) if the formation date of the new partnership falls after that period, shall be treated as having accrued evenly over that period and shall be divided between those who were partners of the old partnership in that period in accordance with the sharing arrangements (subsisting from time to time during that period) of those partners in like manner as that amount would have been divisible between those partners if that amount had been divisible profits from the business of the old partnership accruing evenly over that period; and so much of that divisible income as is thus found to be attributable to the continuing partner shall be taken to be his share of that divisible income for that period;
- (b) if the formation date of the new partnership falls within that period, shall be treated as having accrued evenly over that period and shall be divided in the proportion that the respective lengths of the two parts hereinafter mentioned bear to the length of that period, namely the part (in this subsection referred to as the first part) of that period which falls before that date and the part (in this subsection referred to as the second part) of that period which falls on or after that date and—

- (i) a sum being so much of that amount as is thus found to have been apportioned to the first part shall be treated as having accrued evenly over the length of the first part and divided between those who were partners of the old partnership in the first part in accordance with the sharing arrangements (subsisting from time to time during the first part) of those partners in like manner as that sum would have been divisible between those partners if that sum had been divisible profits from the business of the old partnership accruing evenly over the first part; and so much of that sum as is thus found to be attributable to the continuing partner shall be taken to be part of his share of that divisible income;
- (ii) a sum being so much of that amount as is thus found to have been apportioned to the second part shall be treated as having accrued evenly over the length of the second part and shall be divided between those who were partners of the new partnership in the second part in accordance with the sharing arrangements (subsisting from time to time during the second part) of those partners in like manner as that sum would have been divisible between those partners if that sum had been divisible profits from the business of the new partnership accruing evenly over the second part; and so much of that sum as is thus found to be attributable to the continuing partner shall be taken to be part of his share of that divisible income; and
- (iii) the amount of the part of the continuing partner's share ascertained under subparagraph (i) and the amount of the part of his share ascertained under subparagraph (ii) shall be aggregated; and the amount of the aggregate shall be taken to be his share of that divisible income for that period; and

- (c) if the formation date of the new partnership falls before that period, shall be treated as having accrued evenly over that period and shall be divided between those who were partners of the new partnership in that period in accordance with the sharing arrangements (subsisting from time to time during that period) of those partners in like manner as that amount would have been divisible between those partners if that amount had been divisible profits from the business of the new partnership accruing evenly over that period; and so much of that divisible income as is thus found to be attributable to the continuing partner shall be taken to be his share of that divisible income for that period.

(7) For the purposes of subsection (5) of this section, the amount of any remuneration or interest shall be ascertained whenever necessary by applying subsection 19(3) as if references therein to Chapter 4 were references to subsection (5) of this section.

(8) The adjusted income of the continuing partner from the continuing proprietorship business for the basis period for a year of assessment shall be taken to be the aggregate of—

- (a) so much of the total amount deducted under subsection (5) in ascertaining the divisible income of that business for that period as relates to any remuneration, interest or expenses payable to or incurred in relation to the continuing partner; and
- (b) his share, ascertained under paragraph (6)(a), (b) or (c), as the case may be, of the divisible income of that business for that period.

(9) In subsection (6) “divisible profits” does not include any items of the kind referred to in paragraphs (5)(a), (b) and (c).

Provisions applicable where partnership is a partner in another partnership

57. Where a partnership (in this section referred to as the subsidiary partnership) is a partner in another partnership (in this section referred to as the main partnership), then, in relation to a business of the main partnership—

- (a) throughout any period that a person is a partner in the subsidiary partnership and the subsidiary partnership is a partner in the main partnership it shall be postulated that the person in question was a partner in the main partnership in place of the subsidiary partnership, and the adjusted income under subsection 55(5) or 56(8) (in this section referred to as the computed adjusted income) of that person for the basis period for a year of assessment as the sole proprietor from his proprietorship business or as continuing partner from his continuing proprietorship business, as the case may be, in relation to the main partnership shall be ascertained under section 55 or under section 55 in conjunction with section 56, as the case may be; and
- (b) the computed adjusted income for that basis period shall be divided between the partners of the subsidiary partnership in like manner as divisible income is divided under subsection 55(4) or 56(6), as the case may be, and the amount of the share thereof so ascertained of any such partner as the sole proprietor or as the continuing partner as mentioned in subsection 55(4) or 56(6), as the case may be, shall be taken to be his adjusted income for the basis period for that year of assessment from the proprietorship business or continuing proprietorship business, as the case may be, which he is treated as having in relation to the main partnership by virtue of paragraph (a).

Income receivable by partnership otherwise than from partnership business

58. (1) Where a partnership carries on or shares in the profits of a business and income is receivable by the partnership (not being income forming part of the gross income for the basis period for any year of assessment from any proprietorship business or continuing proprietorship business in relation to any partner in the partnership) from a source, then, whether or not the income has been distributed to the partners, sections 55, 56 and 57 shall apply (with any necessary modifications) for ascertaining the gross income and adjusted income for the basis period for a year of assessment from that source of each partner who is a partner in the partnership as they apply for ascertaining his gross income and adjusted income for the basis period for that year from the business.

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1), in the application of section 55 or section 55 in conjunction with section 56, as the case may be, the provisional adjusted income shall be taken to be the divisible income.

Partnership losses

59. (1) In the case of a sole proprietor of a proprietorship business or of a continuing partner of a continuing proprietorship business referred to in sections 55 and 56 respectively—

- (a) the adjusted loss (in this section referred to as the provisional adjusted loss) of that proprietor or partner from that proprietorship or continuing proprietorship business for the basis period for a year of assessment shall be ascertained on the same principles as those on which his provisional adjusted income from the respective business would, but for that loss, have been ascertained under section 55 or under section 55 in conjunction with section 56, as the case may be;

- (b) the divisible loss of that proprietorship or continuing proprietorship business, for the basis period for a year of assessment shall be found by the addition to the provisional adjusted loss of that sole proprietor or of that continuing partner, as the case may be, from that proprietorship business or continuing proprietorship business of his for that period of the total amount as mentioned in and as ascertained under subsections 55(3) and (5) or subsections 56(5) and (7), as the case may be;
- (c) the divisible loss so found with respect to that proprietorship business or continuing proprietorship business shall be divided in like manner as divisible income from that business would have been divided if there had been divisible income for that period, and so much of that divisible loss as is thus found to be attributable to that sole proprietor or continuing partner shall be taken to be his share of that divisible loss for that period; and
- (d) the adjusted loss of that sole proprietor or continuing partner from that proprietorship business or continuing proprietorship business for that basis period shall be taken to be the difference between—
 - (i) his share, ascertained pursuant to paragraph (c), of the divisible loss of that proprietorship business or continuing proprietorship business for that period; and
 - (ii) so much of the total amount added pursuant to paragraph (b) as relates to any remuneration, interest or expenses payable to or incurred in relation to him as a partner in the partnership in relation to which he is taken to be a sole proprietor or a continuing partner, as the case may be:

Provided that, if in relation to any person the sum found under subparagraph (d)(ii) exceeds the share referred to in subparagraph (d)(i), the difference between that sum and that share shall be treated as the amount of that person's adjusted income for that period from that proprietorship business or from that continuing proprietorship business, as the case may be.

(2) For the purposes of section 55 or section 55 in conjunction with section 56, where the total amount as mentioned in and ascertained under subsections 55(3) and (5) or subsections 56(5) and (7), as the case may be, exceeds the provisional adjusted income of the sole proprietor from his proprietorship business or the continuing partner from his continuing proprietorship business, as the case may be, for the basis period for a year of assessment, the excess shall be taken to be the divisible loss for that period from that proprietorship business or continuing proprietorship business, as the case may be, and paragraphs (1)(c) and (d) shall apply accordingly.

(3) In a case where section 57 would apply but for the absence of any adjusted income, the foregoing subsections shall apply with the following additional provisions:

- (a) the adjusted loss (in this subsection referred to as the computed adjusted loss) of the sole proprietor from his proprietorship business or of the continuing partner from his continuing proprietorship business, as the case may be, in relation to the main partnership for the basis period for a year of assessment shall be ascertained under subsection (1); and
- (b) the computed adjusted loss for that basis period shall be divided between the partners of the subsidiary partnership in like manner as it would have been divided under paragraph 57(b) if the computed adjusted loss had been computed adjusted income within the meaning of that section; and the amount of the share thereof so ascertained of any such partner as the sole proprietor or as the continuing partner, as the case may be, shall be taken to be his adjusted loss for the basis period for that year of assessment from the proprietorship business or continuing proprietorship business, as the case may be, which he is

(b) the deemed notice of assessment shall be deemed to have been served on the person on the day on which the Director General is deemed to have made the assessment.

(3) Where a person for a year of assessment has not furnished a return in accordance with section 77 or 77A, the Director General may according to the best of his judgment determine the amount of the chargeable income of that person for that year and make an assessment accordingly:

Provided that the making of an assessment in respect of a person under this subsection shall not affect any liability otherwise incurred by that person by reason of his failure to deliver the return.

Assessments and additional assessments in certain cases

91. (1) The Director General, where for any year of assessment it appears to him that no or no sufficient assessment has been made on a person chargeable to tax, may in that year or within five years after its expiration make an assessment or additional assessment, as the case may be, in respect of that person in the amount or additional amount of chargeable income and tax or in the additional amount of tax in which, according to the best of the Director General's judgment, the assessment with respect to that person ought to have been made for that year.

agreement come to with respect to an assessment pursuant to subsection 101(2) or in consequence of an assessment having been determined on appeal) has been repaid by mistake whether of fact or law, the Director General may make an assessment in respect of that person in the amount of that tax or that part of that tax, as the case may be:

- (3) The Director General where it appears to him that—
- (a) any form of fraud or wilful default has been committed by or on behalf of any person; or in connection with or in relation to tax, may at any time make an assessment in respect of that person for any year of assessment for the purpose of making good any loss of tax attributable to the fraud, wilful default or negligence in question.

the Director General may in the first-mentioned year of assessment or within five years after its expiration make an assessment in respect of that person for any year of assessment for the purpose of giving effect to the determination, revocation, withdrawal or cancellation, as the case may be.

(5) The Director General, where for any year of assessment it appears to him that no or no sufficient assessment has been made on a person chargeable to tax in consequence of the Director General's determination pursuant to subsection 140A(3), may in that year or within seven years after its expiration make an assessment or additional assessment, as the case may be, in respect of that person in the amount or additional amount of chargeable income and tax or in the additional amount of tax in which, according to the best of the Director General's judgment, the assessment with respect to that person ought to have been made for that year.

(6) Notwithstanding the provisions of this Act, where in a basis period for a year of assessment, an adjustment is made in respect of the input tax paid or to be paid under the Goods and Services Tax Act 2014, the Director General may at any time, as may be necessary to give effect to such adjustment, make an assessment or a reduced assessment for the year of assessment to which the adjustment relates, or if the year of assessment to which the adjustment relates cannot be ascertained, for the year of assessment in which the Director General discovers the adjustment.

(7) Notwithstanding subsections (1) and (5), the Director General may at any time make an assessment or additional assessment, as the case may be, for a year of assessment in respect of a person, in the amount or additional amount of chargeable income and tax, in consequence of a mutual agreement procedure in the double taxation arrangement effected under section 132.

Deemed assessment on the amended return

91A. (1) Where a person has furnished an amended return in accordance with section 77B for a year of assessment, the Director General shall be deemed to have made, on the day on which the amended return is furnished, an assessment or additional assessment in respect of that person—

- (a) in the amount of tax or additional tax payable on the chargeable income; or
- (b) in the amount of tax which has been or would have been wrongly repaid, the tax or additional tax and the chargeable income being the respective amounts as specified in the amended return.

(2) For the purpose of this Act, where the Director General is deemed to have made an assessment or additional assessment under subsection (1)—

- (a) the amended return referred to in that subsection shall be deemed to be a notice of assessment or additional assessment; and
- (b) the deemed notice of assessment or additional assessment shall be deemed to have been served on the person on the day on which the Director General is deemed to have made the assessment or additional assessment.

Advance assessments

92. (1) Subject to this section—

- (a) where in a year of assessment a person ceases to possess a source consisting of a business the Director General may in that year make an assessment in respect of that person and income from that source for that year of assessment and the following year of assessment;

- (b) where in a year of assessment a person commences to receive income in respect of income from an employment or in respect of any pension, annuity, or other periodical payments falling under paragraph 4(e), the Director General may in that year make an assessment in respect of that person and income from that source for that year of assessment and each of the subsequent years of assessment;
- (c) where in a year of assessment the Director General is satisfied that a person who possesses a source is about to leave Malaysia and—
 - (i) that person is likely to cease to possess that source in that year of assessment or the following year of assessment; or
 - (ii) it is desirable for other reasons that an assessment be made in respect of that person, he may in that year make an assessment in respect of that person and income from that source or from any source for that year of assessment and the following year of assessment;

- (d) where a person who has ceased to possess a source in a year of assessment receives income from that source after the end of that year (being income which has not been or does not fall to be included in the gross income of that person from that source for any preceding basis period) the Director General may in the year of assessment in which that income is received make an assessment in respect of that person and that income for that year of assessment;
- (e) where in a year of assessment a person is chargeable to tax in consequence of the application of subsection 54(2) to a business, the Director General may at any time in that year make an assessment in respect of that person and any income from that business for that year of assessment; and

- (f) where the basis period for a year of assessment in respect of a source or sources of a person is a period of twelve months ending on a day other than 31 December in a basis year the Director General, if he thinks fit, may in that year make an assessment in respect of that person and income from that source or those sources, as case may be, for that year of assessment.

(2) Where an assessment is made under subsection (1) in respect of a person, it shall be made on the assumption that—

- (a) all the provisions of this Act in force for the year of assessment in which the assessment is made will continue in force for the year of assessment for which the assessment is made; and
- (b) if that person is an individual, the personal circumstances of that person will be the same in the basis year for the year of assessment for which the assessment is made as they were in the basis year for the year of assessment in which the assessment is made,

and, if in the year of assessment for which the assessment is made it appears to the Director General that by reason of that assumption the assessment is more favourable or less favourable to that person than it would have been if it had been made under section 90, he may take such action under section 91 or make such repayments of tax as the justice of the case appears to him to require.

(3) Where—

- (a) this section confers powers to make an assessment in respect of a person;

- (b) an assessment has been made in respect of that person in a particular year of assessment; and
- (c) the Director General is of the opinion that an additional assessment ought to be made under subsection 91(1) in respect of that person in that particular year, subsection 91(1) shall apply as if the year of assessment referred to therein were that particular year.

(4) For the avoidance of doubt it is hereby declared that—

- (a) the fact that an assessment has been made by virtue of subsection (1) in respect of a person and a source of his shall not prevent the Director General from making an assessment under this Act in respect of that person and any other source of his; and
- (b) the fact that an assessment which would otherwise have been made by virtue of subsection (1) in respect of a person for a year of assessment has not been made because of an insufficiency of total income to produce chargeable income for that year shall not prevent the Director General from making an assessment under any other provision of this Act in respect of that person for that year of assessment or from taking an amount equal to that total income into account when doing so.

Form and making of assessments

93. An assessment, other than an assessment under subsections 90(1) and 91A(1), in respect of a person shall—

Discharge of double assessments

95. Where two or more assessments have been made with respect to a person on the same income for the same year of assessment, the Director General may discharge such of those assessments as need to be discharged in order to ensure that the income is charged to tax only once for that year.

Notice of assessment

96. (1) As soon as may be after an assessment, other than an assessment under subsections 90(1) and 91A(1), has been made, the Director General shall cause a notice of assessment to be served on the person in respect of whom the assessment was made.

(2) Where the tax charged under an assessment is increased on appeal to the Special Commissioners or a court, then, so soon as may be after the appeal has been decided there shall be served on the person in respect of whom the assessment was made a notice of increased assessment.

(1E) (Deleted by Act A1093).

(2) Subject to this section, where in relation to a year of assessment Chapter 3 of Part III has by virtue of section 41 applied to an accounting period as if it were the basis period for that year of assessment and any interest, royalty, services, technical advice, assistance, rental or other income has been included in the gross income of a person from a business of his for that accounting period, then—

- (a) if that accounting period falls wholly within the basis period for that year of assessment, for the purposes of subsection (1), the interest, royalty, services, technical advice, assistance, rental or other income shall be treated as having been included in that person's gross income from that business for that basis period for that year and regard shall be had to the tax deducted from that interest, royalty, services, technical advice, assistance, rental or other income;

- (b) if that accounting period overlaps the basis period for that year of assessment—
- (i) the interest, royalty, services, technical advice, assistance, rental or other income and the tax deducted therefrom shall be apportioned in the manner provided by subsection 41(2);
 - (ii) the part of the dividend, interest, royalty, services, technical advice, assistance, rental or other income so apportioned to the overlapping part of that accounting period shall be treated for the purposes of subsection (1) as interest, royalty, services, technical advice, assistance, rental or other income included in that person's gross income from that business for the basis period for that year; and
 - (iii) in relation to that part of the interest, royalty, services, technical advice, assistance, rental or other income so included regard shall be had for the purposes of subsection (1) to the part of that tax so apportioned to the overlapping part of that accounting period.

(3) Notwithstanding subsections (1) and (2), where any interest, royalty, services, technical advice, assistance, rental or other income is included in the gross income of a person from a business for the basis period for a year of assessment or, by virtue of section 41, for an accounting period as if it were the basis period for that year, then, if that interest, royalty, services, technical advice, assistance, rental or other income or a portion thereof is paid to that person after the end of that basis period or accounting period, as the case may be, that tax deducted therefrom shall be set off against any tax charged on his chargeable income for the year of assessment following that in which the interest, royalty, services, technical advice, assistance, rental or other income or the portion thereof was paid or, where there is no tax so payable, the tax so deducted shall be repaid to him.

(4) For the purposes of subsection (1), where by reason of any provisions of sections 55 to 59 any interest, royalty, services, technical advice, assistance, rental or other income is gross income of a person from a proprietorship or continuing proprietorship business of his for the basis period for a year of assessment, there shall be set off under subsection (1) only so much of the tax so deducted from that interest, royalty, services, technical advice, assistance, rental or other income as bears the same proportion to the amount of that tax as his share of the divisible income from that business for that period bears to the divisible income from that business for that period.

(5) For the purposes of subsections (1) and (2), where by reason of any provisions of sections 55 to 59 any interest, royalty, services, technical advice, assistance, rental or other income in gross income of a person from a proprietorship or continuing proprietorship business of his for an accounting period, then, with respect to the amount of the tax to which regard would be had under those subsections in relation to that person but for this subsection, regard shall be had only to the same proportion of that amount as his share of the divisible income from that business for that period bears to the divisible income from that business for that period.

(6) In any case to which subsection (4) or (5) applies, subsection (3) if applicable shall be modified accordingly.

(7) For the purposes of the foregoing subsections, where only a portion of any interest, royalty, services, technical advice, assistance, rental or other income is gross income of a person from a source of his for the basis period for a year of assessment or for an accounting period treated as if it were the basis period for that year, regard shall be had to that portion and to so much of any tax deducted from that interest, royalty, services, technical advice, assistance, rental or other income as bears the same proportion to that tax as the amount of that portion of the interest, royalty, services, technical advice, assistance, rental or other income bears to the whole of the interest, royalty, services, technical advice, assistance, rental or other income, as the case may be; and accordingly, where this subsection applies—

- (a) the reference in subparagraph (2)(b)(i) to the interest, royalty, services, technical advice, assistance, rental or other income shall be taken to be a reference to that portion thereof;

(9) For the purposes of subsection (8), the tax applicable to the statutory income for a year of assessment of a person from his ordinary source in relation to a trust shall be taken for that year to be a sum which bears the same proportion to the amount of tax chargeable on the chargeable income of the trust body of the trust for that year (or, where the trust body is entitled to any relief under section 132 or 133 for that year, to that amount less the amount of that relief) as that person's statutory income from his ordinary source for that year bears to the total income of the trust body for that year.

(9A) Notwithstanding subsections (8) and (9), where income distributed by a unit trust is included in the aggregate income of a person for a year of assessment, the tax chargeable on the unit trust and attributable to the income included in the aggregate income of that person (or, where the trust is entitled to any relief under section 132 or 133, that tax less the amount of that relief) shall be set off against the tax charged on the chargeable income, if any, of that person for that year of assessment.

(10) Where in any case to which subsection 68(4) applies any income received by a receiver is distributed to any person entitled thereto, and that income is gross income of that person from a source of his for the basis period for a year of assessment, any tax paid by the receiver and attributable to that gross income shall be set off against the tax charged on that person's chargeable income for that year (the amount of any such tax which is so attributable being determined by the Director General).

(11) Where tax is set off under this section against the tax charged for any year of assessment or would have been so set off if there had been tax so charged, the tax so set off or which would have been so set off shall not be set off against the tax charged for any other year of assessment.

(12) Where paragraph 45(2)(a) applies to an individual and to a wife of his for a year of assessment, any reference in the foregoing subsections to a person shall, in the application of those subsections for that year to that individual and that wife, be taken to be a reference to that individual including that wife as if she were that individual and where paragraph 45(2)(b) applies, this subsection shall be applied accordingly.

(3) Where the Director General has reason to believe that any property or services referred to in subsection (2) is acquired or supplied at a price which is either less than or greater than the price which it might have been expected to fetch if the parties to the transaction had been independent persons dealing at arm’s length, he may in determination of the gross income, adjusted income or adjusted loss, statutory income, total income or chargeable income of the person, substitute the price in respect of the transaction to reflect an arm’s length price for the transaction.

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1), the interest for the basis period for that year of assessment shall be the aggregate sum of interest for all calendar months in the basis period and the sum of interest for each calendar month shall be determined in accordance with the following formula:

B is the average lending rate of commercial banks published by the Central Bank at the end of the calendar month or where there is no such average lending rate, such other reference lending rate as may be prescribed by the Director General.

- (b) it appears to the Director General that, owing to the close connection between the resident and the non-resident and to the substantial control exercised by the non-resident over the resident, the course of business between them can be and is so arranged that the business done by the resident in pursuance of his connection with the non-resident produces to the resident in relation to the basis period for the relevant year either no income or a smaller income than that which might be expected to arise from that business, the non-resident shall as regards the relevant year be taken to have a chargeable income and to be assessable and chargeable to tax thereon in the name of the resident by reference to the income which might be expected to arise from the business of the resident as if the resident were an agent of the non-resident.

(2) Where the true amount of the income from a business of the non-resident cannot be readily ascertained for the purposes of subsection (1)—

- (a) the Director General may, if he thinks fit, assess and charge the non-resident for the relevant year on a fair and reasonable percentage of the turnover of the business done by the non-resident through or with the resident (the percentage being determined in each case with regard to the nature of the business); and
- (b) the provisions of this Act relating to the delivery of returns or particulars by persons acting on behalf of others shall extend so as to require returns or particulars of the business done by the non-resident through or with the resident to be furnished by the resident in the same manner as returns or particulars of income are to be delivered by persons acting for persons who are not resident.

- (a) on the acquisition of the mine or rights in or over the mine;
- (b) on searching for, on discovering and testing or on winning access to deposits of minerals;
- (c) on the construction of any works or buildings which, when the mine ceases to be worked, are likely to be of little or no value to any person except in connection with the working of another mine; or
- (d) on development, general administration or management before the production of minerals begins or during any period when minerals are not being produced.

2. Where a deduction has been made under section 44 pursuant to Schedule 4 (or under any corresponding provision of any of the repealed laws as defined in Schedule 9) in respect of any expenditure, and that expenditure has not been added to any aggregate income under paragraph 43(1)(c) pursuant to subparagraph 5(a) of Schedule 4, that expenditure shall be deemed not to be qualifying mining expenditure for the purposes of this Schedule.

Deductions for qualifying mining expenditure

3. Subject to this Schedule, where the business of a person consists or mainly consists of the working of a mine with or without other mines (that business and that person being in this Schedule referred to as the relevant business and the operator respectively) and the operator has incurred qualifying mining expenditure in relation to that mine, then, in the ascertainment of the adjusted income of the operator for the basis period for a year of assessment from the relevant business there shall be allowed pursuant to this Schedule as a deduction under section 34 from the gross income for that period from the relevant business an amount arrived at by dividing the residual expenditure at the end of that period by the residual life at the beginning of that period.

4. (1) The operator shall, when he commences working a mine which forms part of the relevant business and thereafter from time to time as may be necessary, furnish to the Director General a written statement containing an estimate of the life of the mine by reference to the number of years during which the winning and obtaining of minerals from the mine may be expected to continue and setting out the calculations on which that estimate is based; and the Director General, by reference to that estimate or, where no or no proper or sufficient statement has been furnished under this paragraph, by reference to a similar estimate made by him to the best of his judgment shall from time to time as he thinks appropriate fix a figure of the number of years of the life of the mine, and that number shall constitute the estimated life of the mine for the purposes of this Schedule:

Provided that, if the commencement of working was before 1 January 1968, this subparagraph shall not apply as regards that commencement but shall otherwise apply from time to time as may be necessary.

(2) Except where any provision of paragraph 15 applies, a change in the estimated life of a mine shall not affect a deduction which has been or could have been made under section 34 pursuant to this Schedule in ascertaining adjusted income from the relevant business for the basis period for a year of assessment if that basis period ended before the change.

5. Where in a case to which section 41 applies it is necessary as regards a mine to ascertain a deduction under section 34 pursuant to this Schedule in relation to an accounting period of more or less than twelve months—

- (a) the residual expenditure at the end of that period shall be divided by the residual life at the beginning of that period; and
- (b) the resulting figure shall be increased or decreased in the same proportion as the length of that accounting period bears to a period of twelve months and shall then constitute the amount of the deduction.

Transfer of mine, etc.

6. Paragraphs 7 to 14 shall apply in relation to any particular mine forming part of the relevant business with respect to which the operator has incurred qualifying mining expenditure, and in those paragraphs—

“consideration” means consideration (not being in the nature of or representing income) which is monetary or non-monetary or both;

- (a) where the operator transfers a mining asset for a consideration, the value of the consideration shall be deemed to be recovered expenditure in relation to the mine and to be received by the operator at the date of the transfer;
- (b) where the operator receives any consideration for the granting of any right in or over the mine or any part thereof, the value of the consideration shall be deemed to be recovered expenditure in relation to the mine and the operator; and
- (c) where the operator receives any amount or property by way of compensation, recoupment or otherwise for any qualifying mining expenditure (being expenditure of a kind which does not produce a mining asset) incurred by him in connection with or in preparation for the working of the mine, that amount or the market value of that property at the time of its receipt shall be deemed to be recovered expenditure in relation to the mine and the operator.

8. Where the operator transfers a mining asset together with any other property, then—

- (a) if the transfer is made for an undivided consideration and the operator and the transferee are able to agree how much of the value of the consideration should be treated as given for the mining asset and for the other property respectively, they shall within three months of the transfer jointly furnish the Director General with a written statement showing the apportionment of the consideration as so agreed and, subject to subparagraph (c), the part of that value apportioned to the mining asset shall be deemed to be recovered expenditure in relation to the mine and to be received by the operator at the date of the transfer;

- (b) if the transfer is made for separate considerations, the operator shall within three months of the transfer furnish the Director General with a written statement showing the value of each consideration and, subject to subparagraph (c), the value of the consideration shown in that statement for the mining asset shall be deemed to be recovered expenditure in relation to the mine and to be received by the relevant person at the date of the transfer; and
- (c) if the Director General is not satisfied with the apportionment mentioned in subparagraph (a) or with any value shown in the statement mentioned in subparagraph (b), or if there is a failure to furnish a statement in accordance with either of those subparagraphs, the Director General shall determine to the best of his judgment the value of the consideration for the mining asset, and the value so determined shall be deemed to be recovered expenditure in relation to the mine and to be received by the operator at the date of the transfer.

9. Where there is a transfer by the operator of a mining asset (with or without any other property) together with a grant by the operator of a right of the kind mentioned in subparagraph 7(b), then, for the purposes of paragraph 8—

- (a) the grant shall be treated as forming part of the transfer of that asset; and
- (b) the right shall be treated as forming part of that asset, and that paragraph shall apply accordingly with any necessary modifications.

10. Where the operator transfers a mining asset (with or without other property) either—

- (a) for an undivided consideration (as regards that asset and that other property, if any) together with an amount or property of the kind mentioned in subparagraph 7(c); or
- (b) for separate considerations (as regards that asset and that other property, if any) together with an amount or property of that kind, paragraph 8 shall apply with any necessary modifications.

11. For the purposes of paragraphs 7 to 10—

- (a) if any consideration consists partly of money and partly of non-monetary property, the value of the monetary part of the consideration and the value of the non-monetary part thereof shall, whenever necessary, be aggregated or aggregated and apportioned, as the case may require;

- (b) if the subject matter of a transfer consists of two or more mines or of a right in or over two or more mines, any amount apportioned under those paragraphs to those mines shall be divided and apportioned to each of those mines in the proportion that the residual expenditure in relation to each of those mines at the date of the transfer bears to the total of the residual expenditure in relation to those mines.

12. Where the operator transfers the mine and at the date of the transfer the residual expenditure ascertained immediately before that date exceeds the difference between—

- (a) the total amount of all the operator's recovered expenditure received on or before that date; and
- (b) the total amount of all his recovered expenditure received prior to that date, the amount of the excess shall be allowed pursuant to this Schedule under section 34 as a deduction from his gross income from the relevant business for the basis period (being the basis period appropriate to the relevant business for a year of assessment) in which the transfer was made.

13. (1) Where the operator has incurred expenditure in relation to the transfer to him of the mine and any other matter or thing appertaining to the mine, that expenditure shall be treated as qualifying mining expenditure incurred by the operator in respect of the mine.

(2) (Deleted by Act A226).

14. Where in relation to the mine there takes place a transaction as a result of which an amount would (but for this paragraph) fall to be treated under any provision of paragraphs 6 to 13 as recovered expenditure of the operator in relation to the mine and—

- (a) the operator is a person over whom the other party to the transaction has control;
- (b) that other party is a person over whom the operator has control;

the residual expenditure referable to the mine or any other mining asset immediately before the date of that first-mentioned transaction shall be deemed in the hands of the operator to be recovered expenditure received at that date and in the hands of that other party to be qualifying mining expenditure incurred at that date; and paragraphs 6 to 13 shall not apply in relation to that first-mentioned transaction.

Cessation of Working

15. Where in the basis period for a year of assessment the operator permanently ceases to work a mine (otherwise than upon his death or the transfer of the mine by him to any other person), recovered expenditure received by him after the date of the cessation of working shall (notwithstanding any provision of paragraphs 7 to 10) be treated as if it had been received on that date and—

- (a) if he so elects, the deductions to be made under section 34 in respect of amounts allowed pursuant to this Schedule in computing his adjusted income from the relevant business for that basis period and for the basis period for each of the four immediately preceding years of assessment (or, if he commenced to work the mine in the basis period for one of those four years other than the earliest thereof, for that first-mentioned basis period and for the basis period being a basis period in which the mine was worked by him for each of the preceding years of assessment) shall be computed as regards each such basis period as if the reference in paragraph 3 to the residual life at the beginning of the basis period were a reference to what the residual life would be if the estimated life were taken to be equal to the number of complete years from the beginning of the first such basis period to the date of cessation of working; and
- (b) such repayments of tax and assessments shall be made as are necessary to give effect to this paragraph.

Supplemental provisions

16. Where two or more separate and distinct sets of mining operations are carried on over a source of minerals and none of those sets of operations is carried on contiguously to another of those sets of operations, each of those sets of operations shall be treated for the purposes of this Schedule as being carried on in the working of a separate mine:

Provided that, where a deduction has been given under section 34 in respect of any amount allowed pursuant to this Schedule for qualifying mining expenditure in respect of any such separate mine, no amount shall be allowed pursuant to this Schedule for that expenditure in respect of any other such separate mine and that expenditure shall not be treated as qualifying mining expenditure incurred in respect of that other mine.

17. (1) A person shall not be treated as working a mine for the purposes of this Schedule unless he is actively engaged in working the mine and his gross income from a business of his includes the proceeds of sale of minerals won or obtained by working the mine.

44. Any reference in this Schedule to any asset or to any relevant interest therein shall be construed whenever necessary as including a reference to a part of any asset or of any relevant interest therein (or, in the case of an asset or any relevant interest therein held in undivided shares, the undivided share in the asset or in the relevant interest therein); and, when it is so construed, the Director General shall make such necessary apportionments as may be just and reasonable to give proper effect to this Schedule.

46. Where a person incurs capital expenditure under a hire purchase agreement on the provision of any machinery or plant for the purposes of a business of his, he shall for the purposes of this Schedule be taken to be the owner of that machinery or plant; and the qualifying expenditure incurred by him on that machinery or plant in the basis period for a year of assessment shall be taken to be the capital portion of any instalment payment (or, where there is more than one such payment, of the aggregate of those payments) made by him under the agreement in that period.

50. Where—

- (a) a person is entitled to two or more interests in a building when he incurs qualifying expenditure on it; and
- (b) one of those interests is an interest which is reversionary on all the others, that reversionary interest shall be the relevant interest for the purposes of this Schedule.

51. An interest shall not cease to be the relevant interest for the purposes of this Schedule by reason of the creation of any lease or other interest to which that first-mentioned interest is subject; and, where the relevant interest is a leasehold interest and is extinguished by the surrender thereof or on the person entitled thereto acquiring the interest which is reversionary thereon, the interest into which that leasehold interest merges shall thereupon become the relevant interest.

57. If an asset which is temporarily disused in relation to a business of a person ceases to be ready for use for the purposes of the business or if its disuse can no longer reasonably be regarded as temporary, it shall be deemed to have ceased at the beginning of the period of disuse to be used for the purposes of the business, and all such assessments shall be made as may be necessary to counteract the benefit of any allowances made to him for any year of assessment by reason of the application of paragraph 56 in relation to the asset.

(2) The qualifying expenditure of the part of the asset disposed shall be taken to be the amount as determined in accordance with the generally accepted accounting principles.

(3) The residual expenditure under paragraph 68 in respect of the part of the asset disposed shall be the qualifying expenditure of the part of an asset disposed reduced by the amount of allowance that have been made or would have been made under this Schedule to that person prior to the disposal of that part of the asset.

Provided that, where the asset is disposed of in such circumstances that insurance or compensation moneys are received by that person in respect of the asset, its disposal value shall be taken to be an amount equal to its market value at the date of its disposal or those moneys, whichever is the greater.

(2) Where an asset of the kind to which subparagraph 2(2) applies is disposed of, the disposal value shall be deemed to be an amount which bears the same proportion to the disposal value ascertained under subparagraph (1) as the qualifying plant expenditure ascertained under subparagraph 2(2) bears to the qualifying plant expenditure ascertained under subparagraph 2(1).

(2) In the event the adjustment of the amount of the qualifying expenditure made under subparagraph (1) results in —

- (a) an additional amount, such amount shall be deemed to be part of the qualifying expenditure incurred, and the residual expenditure under paragraph 68 in relation to the asset shall include that additional amount; or
- (b) a reduced amount, the qualifying expenditure incurred and the residual expenditure under paragraph 68 shall be reduced by such amount, and if the amount of the allowance made or ought to have been made under this Schedule exceeds the residual expenditure, the excess shall be part of the statutory income of that person from a

- (b) an allowance which would have been made or to which that person would have been entitled in relation to a source consisting of a business of his for a year of assessment but for an insufficiency or absence of adjusted income or the existence of an adjusted loss for the basis period for that year.

70. In this Schedule “purchase price”, in relation to the purchase of an industrial building, includes any legal fee, stamp duty or other incidental expenditure incurred by the purchaser in connection with the purchase, but does not include so much of the purchase price of the building and of any land or an interest therein purchased with the building as is attributable to the land or that interest; and, for the purposes of paragraph 53, the building and that land or the interest therein, as the case may be, shall be treated as being separate assets.

Supplemental provisions

71. Where a person has incurred qualifying expenditure in relation to an asset which is owned by that person for a period of less than two years, except by reason of the death of that person or any other reasons as the Director General thinks appropriate that any allowance which but for this paragraph would fall to be made to him in relation to that asset shall not be made; and, where any such allowance has been made, a balancing charge in an amount equal to any such allowance shall be made on him for the year of assessment in the basis period for which the asset was disposed of by him (being the basis period appropriate to the source consisting of the business for the purposes of which the expenditure was incurred).

72. (Deleted by Act A226).

73. Where qualifying expenditure has been incurred by a person in relation to an asset used for the purposes of a business of his, then, if the asset is used only partly for the purposes of the business, any allowance to be made to that person under this Schedule for a year of assessment in relation to the asset shall consist of so much of what would have been the amount of the allowance claimed and due for that year if the asset had been used in the basis period for that year wholly for the purposes of the business, as shall be determined by the Director General having regard to all the circumstances of the case:

Provided that in ascertaining the residual expenditure at any date in relation to the asset regard shall be had, with respect to any allowance claimed in relation to that asset for any year of assessment, to the full amount of that allowance which but for this paragraph would then have been made to him for that year in relation to that asset.

74. Where a person has a source within the meaning of sections 55 to 58, any allowance or charge to be made to or on him for a year of assessment in relation to a source and to an asset for a year of assessment shall be determined in such manner as may be prescribed by rules made for the purposes of this paragraph.

75. Subject to paragraph 75A, where, by reason of an insufficiency or absence of adjusted income of a person from a business of his for the basis period for a year of assessment or by reason of the existence of an adjusted loss from the business for that period, effect cannot be given or cannot be given in full to any allowance or to the aggregate amount of any allowances falling to be made to him for that year in relation to the source consisting of that business, that allowance or that aggregate amount, as the case may be, which has not been so made (or so much thereof as has not been so made to him for that year) shall be deemed to be an allowance to be made to him for the first subsequent year of assessment for the basis period for which there is adjusted income from that business, and so on for subsequent years of assessment until the whole amount of the allowance or that aggregate amount to be made to him has been made to him.

75A. Any allowance or aggregate amount of allowances for a year of assessment which has not been so made to a company as ascertained under paragraph 75 shall not be made to that company for the purposes of this Schedule and section 42 unless the Director General is satisfied that the shareholders of that company on the last day of the basis period for the year of assessment in which that allowance or that aggregate amount has not been so made were substantially the same as the shareholders of that company on the first day of the basis period for the year of assessment in which that allowance or that aggregate amount would otherwise be made to that company under this Schedule and available for the purposes of that section and that allowance or that aggregate amount which but for this paragraph would have been made to the company in a year of assessment shall be disregarded for subsequent years of assessment.

75AA. Where a partnership or a company is converted into a limited liability partnership in accordance with section 29 or 30 of the Limited Liability Partnerships Act 2012, any allowance or aggregate amount of allowances for a year of assessment which has not been so made to that partnership or company as ascertained under paragraph 75 shall be made to that limited liability partnership for the purposes of this Schedule and section 42 for the following year of assessment.

75B. (1) For the purpose of paragraph 75A—

- (a) the shareholders of the company at any date shall be substantially the same as the shareholders at any other date if on both those dates—
 - (i) more than fifty per cent of the paid-up capital in respect of the ordinary share of the company is held by or on behalf of the same person; and
 - (ii) more than fifty per cent of the nominal value of the allotted shares in respect of ordinary share in the company is held by or on behalf of the same person;

*NOTE—see section 33 of Act 644 for explanations.

- (b) shares in the company held by or on behalf of another company shall be deemed to be held by the shareholders of the last-mentioned company; and
- (c) any allowance or aggregate amount of allowances which has not been so made for any year of assessment referred to in that paragraph shall consist of an allowance falling to be made under this Schedule for that year of assessment but shall not include any amount of allowance deemed to have been made for that year of assessment pursuant to paragraph 75.

(2) In this paragraph, “ordinary share” has the same meaning assigned to it under subsection 44(5C).

75C. Where there is a substantial change in the shareholders of a company referred to in paragraph 75A, the Minister may under special circumstances exempt that company from the provisions of paragraph 75A.

76. A person shall not be entitled to an allowance under this Schedule for a year of assessment unless he makes a claim for the allowance for that year in accordance with paragraph 77.

76A. Where in a year of assessment a partnership or a company is converted into a limited liability partnership in accordance with section 29 or 30 of the Limited Liability Partnerships Act 2012, the limited liability partnership shall not be entitled to an allowance under this Schedule in relation to an asset which is transferred to that limited liability partnership for that year of assessment unless for that year of assessment no allowance in relation to that asset has been claimed by the partners of that partnership or that company in accordance with paragraph 77.

77. (1) Any claim by a person for an allowance under this Schedule for a year of assessment shall be made in a written statement containing such particulars as may be requisite to show that the claimant is entitled to the allowance and a certificate signed by the claimant verifying those particulars.

(2) Any claim to be made by a person for a year of assessment in accordance with this paragraph shall be furnished with a return of his income made under section 77 or 77A for that year.

78. Where in the case of a business of a person the basis periods for two years of assessment overlap, the period common to those periods shall be deemed for the purposes of this Schedule to fall into the earlier of those periods and not into the later of those periods.

79. Where as regards a business of a person the Director General has exercised the power conferred upon him by subsection 21A(3) to direct that the basis period for a year of assessment shall consist of a specified period, any allowance or charge to be made on or to that person under this Schedule in relation to the source consisting of that business for that year shall be ascertained by reference to such a period as shall be determined by the Director General, and that last-mentioned period shall be taken to be the basis period for that year in the application of this paragraph with this Schedule.

80. The Minister may prescribe a building which is constructed or purchased by any person and used by him for the purposes of his business as an industrial building and the amount of the allowance or allowances which would otherwise fall to be made to him under paragraph 12, 16 or 42.

81. The Minister may prescribe any capital expenditure incurred by a person in his business as qualifying agriculture expenditure under paragraph 7 and the amount of the allowance or allowances in respect of that qualifying agriculture expenditure which would otherwise fall to be made to him under paragraphs 22 and 23.

SCHEDULE 4

[Sections 43 and 44]

Expenditure on Prospecting Operations

1. Qualifying prospecting expenditure for the purposes of this Schedule is expenditure wholly and exclusively incurred in searching for, discovering or winning access to deposits of minerals in an eligible area or in testing any such deposits, but excludes expenditure on the acquisition of—

- (a) the site of the source of the deposits;
- (b) the site of any works which are likely to be of little or no value when the source is no longer worked;
- (c) rights in or over any such site; or
- (d) rights in or over the deposits.

2. (a) A person who has incurred qualifying prospecting expenditure in the basis period for a year of assessment may elect to claim in a return of his income for that year of assessment a deduction to be made under subparagraph 5(a) (in this Schedule that person and that year of assessment being referred to as “the prospector” and “the relevant year” respectively).

(b) Where no election has been made under subparagraph (a), a person who has incurred qualifying prospecting expenditure may claim for the relevant year a deduction under subparagraph 5(b).

3. A claim under paragraph 2 shall—

- (a) if an election is made, be made in writing and shall be irrevocable;
- (b) specify the eligible area to which the claim relates and the amount of the qualifying prospecting expenditure claimed to be deductible;
- (c) contain a declaration described in paragraph 4 if a claim is made for a deduction under subparagraph 5(b); and in the case of subparagraph (b) or (c), shall contain such other information as may be necessary to enable the Director General to dispose of the claim in accordance with this Schedule.

4. The declaration referred to in subparagraph 3(c) is a declaration by the prospector that—

- (a) on a date before the end of the basis year for the relevant year he permanently ceased to search for deposits of minerals in the area to which the claim relates, to win access to any such deposits discovered by him in that area and to test any such deposits; and
- (b) he has not carried on and has formed the permanent intention not to carry on any business consisting of or including the working of a mine in that area.

5. Subject to this Schedule, there shall be deducted for the relevant year under subsection 44(1)—

- (a) an amount equal to so much of the qualifying prospecting expenditure as was incurred in the basis period for the relevant year:

Provided that where the area specified in subparagraph 3(b) ceased to be an eligible area by reason of a lease, licence or certificate (other than a prospecting licence or certificate) granted or issued under any written law regulating mining being granted, issued or assigned to the prospector in any year of assessment subsequent to the relevant year, there shall be added under paragraph 43(1)(c) in ascertaining the prospector's aggregate income for that year of assessment subsequent to that relevant year an amount equal to that prospecting expenditure or where a prospecting expenditure has been made to him for more than one relevant year the aggregate of all those expenditure for all those years; or

- (b) an amount equal to so much of the qualifying prospecting expenditure as was incurred before, but not more than ten years before, the end of the basis year for the relevant year.

6. Where—

- (a) a claim under this Schedule is not allowable because the area specified under subparagraph 3(b) is not an eligible area or is misdescribed or because the amount of expenditure so specified is excessive; and
- (b) the Director General is of the opinion that the claim would be wholly or partly allowable, if amendments were made affecting the area or amount so specified, he may make those amendments and allow the claim (in whole or in part) as amended.

7. Subject to paragraph 8, where a claim under this Schedule in respect of any area and expenditure has been allowed or disallowed, no other claim may be made for any year of assessment in respect of that area or expenditure.

8. Where a claim under this Schedule in respect of any area and expenditure is disallowed because the Director General is not satisfied as to any matter to which the declaration described in paragraph 4 relates, a further claim in respect of that area and expenditure may be made for a subsequent year of assessment.

9. Where a claim is made under this Schedule in respect of any area and expenditure, the amount of any deduction which would otherwise be made under subsection 44(1) pursuant to this Schedule for any or all relevant years shall be reduced to the extent provided by paragraphs 10 to 13 (that amount being referred to in those paragraphs as the provisional deduction).

10. (1) Where machinery or plant has been purchased by the prospector and used in any operation connected with any qualifying prospecting expenditure to which the provisional deduction relates (whether or not it was first used in that way), the provisional deduction under subparagraph 5(a) shall be reduced—

- (a) if the machinery or plant has been sold in the basis period for the relevant year by the amount of any consideration for the sale (ascertained in accordance with paragraph 11);
- (b) by an amount equal to any sum received or receivable by the prospector in the basis period for the relevant year for the use of the machinery or plant otherwise than in any such operation; and
- (c) if the machinery or plant has not been sold in the basis period for the relevant year in which he permanently ceased to search for deposits of

minerals in the area to which the claim relates, to win access to any such deposits discovered by him in that area and to test any such deposits, by an amount equal to its market value at the date he permanently ceased to prospect in that area.

(2) Where machinery or plant has been purchased by the prospector and used in any operation connected with any qualifying prospecting expenditure to which the provisional deduction relates (whether or not it was first used in that way), the provisional deduction under subparagraph 5(b) shall be reduced—

- (a) if the machinery or plant has been sold before the date referred to in subparagraph 4(a), by the amount of any consideration for the sale (ascertained in accordance with paragraph 11);
- (b) if the machinery or plant has not been sold before that date, by an amount equal to its market value at that date; and
- (c) by an amount equal to any sum received or receivable by the prospector before that date (and, in the case of machinery or plant to which paragraph 14 applies, after the date on which the machinery or plant was first used in any such operation) for the use of the machinery or plant otherwise than in any such operation.

11. For the purposes of paragraph 10, the consideration for a sale of machinery or plant shall be ascertained by taking the amount of any monetary consideration and the amount of the market value of any non-monetary consideration or, where there is only non-monetary consideration, by taking the amount of the market value of either—

- (a) the non-monetary consideration; or
- (b) the machinery or plant at the date of the sale,

whichever is the greater:

Provided that the consideration shall be taken to be the amount of the market value of the plant or machinery at the time of the sale in any case where the monetary consideration is less than the market value and the Director General is satisfied that the sale is a transaction to which section 140 applies.

12. The provisional deduction shall be reduced—

- (a) by an amount equal to any sum received or receivable by the prospector at any time before the end of the basis year for the relevant year or in the basis period for the relevant year, as the case may be, from the sale of any rights or other benefits arising from or connected with the area to which the provisional deduction relates, and by an amount equal to the market value at the time of the sale of any non-monetary consideration so received or receivable; and

- (b) by an amount equal to any sum received or receivable by the prospector at any time before the end of the basis year for the relevant year or in the basis period for the relevant year, as the case may be, as a grant or other payment by the Government, a State Government or a statutory authority intended directly or indirectly to reduce the burden of the qualifying prospecting expenditure to which the provisional deduction relates.

13. Where, by reason of the fact that as regards the prospector there is for the relevant year no or no sufficient defined aggregate, a deduction which would otherwise be made under subsection 44(1) pursuant to this Schedule cannot be made or can be made only in part, the deduction (or, where the deduction can be made only in part, so much of the deduction as cannot be made) shall be made for the first year of assessment (being a year of assessment subsequent to the relevant year) for which in computing the total income of the prospector there is a defined aggregate, and so on for the years of assessment subsequent to that first year until the whole amount of the deduction has been made.

14. Where the operator uses in operations connected with qualifying prospecting expenditure any machinery or plant acquired by him otherwise than for such a use, the market value of the machinery or plant when first used in any of those operations (and not its price or market value when it was first acquired by him) shall be deemed to be included in that expenditure.

15. Where—

- (a) there has been made under paragraphs 10 to 13 a reduction consisting of an amount equal to a sum receivable (but not received) by the prospector; and
- (b) within the five years following the relevant year the prospector satisfies the Director General that the sum in question or a part of that sum is irrecoverable, such adjustments in the ascertainment of the prospector's total income for any year of assessment shall be made as are necessary to compute the tax paid by him which would not have been paid if there had been allowed to him the deduction which would have been allowed if that sum or that part of that sum, as the case may be, had not been taken into account as receivable; and a sum equal to any tax so computed shall be repaid to the prospector by the Director General:

Provided that, where this paragraph has been applied to a part of that sum, that part shall be left out of account in any subsequent application of this paragraph.

16. Where the prospector receives in the basis year for a year of assessment subsequent to the relevant year which coincides with the year in which he permanently ceased to search for, win access or test deposits of minerals in that area—

- (a) an amount to which, if it had been received or receivable by him in the basis year for the relevant year, paragraph 12 would have applied; or
- (b) an amount on account or in respect of an amount treated as irrecoverable with regard to which an adjustment has been made under paragraph 15, the amount so received shall be added under paragraph 43(1)(c) in ascertaining the prospector's aggregate income for that subsequent year:

Provided that the amount (if any) so added in ascertaining the prospector's aggregate income for a year of assessment by virtue of this paragraph, together with any amount so added in ascertaining his aggregate income for any previous year of assessment in relation to the same claim, shall not exceed the total deductions allowed in pursuance of the claim under any of the foregoing paragraphs for the relevant year and any subsequent year of assessment.

17. In this Schedule—

“defined aggregate”, in relation to the prospector and a year of assessment, means his aggregate income for that year reduced by any deduction falling to be made for that year pursuant to subsection 44(2);

“eligible area” means any particular area in Malaysia which does not consist of or include an area with respect to which there is or has been in force at any time before the end of the basis year for the relevant year any lease, licence or certificate (other than a prospecting licence or certificate) granted or issued under any written law regulating mining and granted, issued or assigned to the prospector before the end of that basis year.

3. Subject to this Schedule, there shall be deducted for a year of assessment under subsection 44(1) an amount equal to so much of the qualifying pre-operational business expenditure as was incurred in the basis period for the year of assessment (in this Schedule that year of assessment being referred to as "the relevant year").
4. Where by reason of the fact that there is for the relevant year no or no sufficient defined aggregate, a deduction which would otherwise be made under subsection 44(1) pursuant to this Schedule cannot be made or can be made only in part, the deduction (or, where the deduction can be made only in part, so much of the deduction as cannot be made) shall be made for the first year of assessment (being a year of assessment subsequent to the relevant year) for which in computing the total income there is a defined aggregate, and so on for the years of assessment subsequent to that first year until the whole amount of the deduction has been made.

5. In this Schedule, “defined aggregate”, in relation to a year of assessment, means the aggregate income for that year reduced by a deduction made pursuant to subsection 44(2) or Schedule 4.

4. (Deleted by Act A1609).

Sending forward of appeals, etc.

5. Where the Director General sends an appeal forward in pursuance of section 102, he shall do so by forwarding to the Secretary a copy of the notice of appeal given under section 99, together with an address for service and a request for the appeal to be set down for hearing.

6. The notice forwarded under paragraph 5 shall constitute the petition of appeal and the appellant's address contained therein shall constitute the appellant's address for service.

7. Either party to an appeal may change his address for service by giving written notice of the change to the Secretary and the other party.

Place and date of hearing

8. On receipt of a request under paragraph 5 for an appeal to be set down for hearing, the Secretary shall fix a place and date of hearing which he considers suitable and shall give the appellant and the Director General at least twenty-eight days notice of the date and place so fixed:

Provided that, before sending an appeal forward, the Director General may make an agreement in writing with the appellant fixing one of the places included in any programme drawn up under paragraph 3 as the place of hearing of the appeal, and, where he does so—

(a) he shall forward a copy of the agreement to the Secretary when he sends the appeal forward; and

(b) the Secretary shall fix as the place of hearing the place so agreed.

9. One of the Special Commissioners on the application of a party to an appeal may, after giving the other party an opportunity to be heard, vary any date or place fixed under paragraph 8 and may do so, in the case of a place so fixed, notwithstanding that the appeal has been partly heard in that place.

Appeals may be heard together

10. One of the Special Commissioners may order—

- (a) two or more appeals by the same person; or
- (b) two or more appeals by different persons, if they agree, to be heard together.

11. One of the Special Commissioners may make an order under subparagraph 10(a) either of his own motion or on the application of a party to one of the appeals in question, but no such order shall be made until the parties to those appeals have been given an opportunity to be heard.

Scope of argument

12. At the hearing of an appeal the appellant may rely on grounds of appeal other than those stated in the petition of appeal and may vary any ground of appeal so stated:

Provided that, where he does so without giving reasonable notice to the Director General, the Special Commissioners shall adjourn the hearing for a reasonable period if requested to do so by the Director General.

Onus of proof

13. The onus of proving that an assessment against which an appeal is made is excessive or erroneous shall be on the appellant.

Representation and attendance

14. For the purposes of an appeal—

- (a) the Director General may be represented by an authorized officer, a legal officer or an advocate;
- (b) the appellant may be represented by an advocate or a tax agent or by both an advocate and a tax agent; and
- (c) if the appellant is the principal within the meaning of section 67, he may be represented by the representative within the meaning of that section.

15. In paragraph 14—

“legal officer” means a legally qualified public officer entitled under the law in force in any part of Malaysia to represent the Government in civil proceedings by or against the Government.

16. The Director General and the appellant may—

- (a) attend at the time and place fixed for the hearing of the appeal; and
- (b) do any other thing or take any other action in connection with the appeal, either personally or by a representative of the kind referred to in paragraph 14.

16A. Where both parties to an appeal attend, either personally or by a representative of the kind referred to in paragraph 14, at the time and place fixed for the hearing of the appeal, the Special Commissioners may on the application of either or both of the parties grant a postponement of the hearing on such terms as they consider reasonable, including terms as to the costs of the postponement to the Special Commissioners and to the party not applying for postponement, against the party or parties (as the case may be) applying for the postponement.

17. (1) Where a party to an appeal fails to attend, either personally or by a representative of the kind referred to in paragraph 14, at the time and place fixed for the hearing of the appeal, the Special Commissioners—

- (a) if they are then and there satisfied that the defaulting party is prevented from attending by sickness or other reasonable cause, shall postpone the hearing for what appears to them to be an appropriate time, or they may hear and decide the appeal in the absence of the defaulting party if he requests them to do so;
- (b) if they are not so satisfied, may hear and decide the appeal in the absence of the defaulting party, or may dismiss the appeal if the defaulting party is the appellant, or may postpone the hearing for what appears to them to be an appropriate time.

(2) Where both parties to an appeal fail to attend, either personally or by a representative of the kind referred to in paragraph 14, at the time and place fixed for the hearing of the appeal—

- (a) if each of the parties fails to satisfy the Special Commissioners that he is prevented from attending by sickness or other reasonable cause, they may either decide or dismiss the appeal in the absence of both parties or postpone the hearing for what appears to them to be an appropriate time, and where they postpone the hearing they may order either or both parties to pay to them such costs as they consider reasonable;
- (b) if the Special Commissioners are then and there satisfied that one of the parties is prevented from attending by sickness or other reasonable cause and are not satisfied that the other party is so prevented, they shall postpone the hearing for what appears to them to be an appropriate time, or they may decide the appeal in the absence of the parties if the party so prevented requests them to do so;

- (c) if the Special Commissioners are satisfied that both parties are prevented from attending by sickness or other reasonable cause, they shall postpone the hearing for what appears to them to be an appropriate time, or they may decide the appeal in the absence of the parties if the parties request them to do so.

18. Where, after a deciding order has been made under paragraph 17 as the result of a party's failure to attend at the time and place fixed for the hearing of an appeal, the Special Commissioners are satisfied on an application made within a period of thirty days after the making of the order that the defaulting party was prevented from attending by sickness or other reasonable cause, they may set aside the order and fix a time and place for a fresh hearing of the appeal.

Powers of Special Commissioners

19. The Special Commissioners shall have—

- (a) power to summon to attend at the hearing of an appeal any person who in their opinion is or might be able to give evidence respecting the appeal;
- (b) power, where a person is so summoned, to examine him as a witness on oath or otherwise;
- (c) power, where a person is so summoned, to require him to produce any books, papers or documents which are in his custody or under his control and which the Special Commissioners may consider necessary for the purposes of the appeal;

- (g) power to postpone or adjourn the hearing of an appeal from time to time (including power to adjourn to consider their decision).

Witnesses bound to tell truth, etc.

20. Every person examined as a witness by or before the Special Commissioners, whether on oath or otherwise, shall be legally bound to state the truth and if summoned under subparagraph 19(a) to produce such books, papers or documents in his custody or under his control as the Special Commissioners may require under subparagraph 19(c).

Witnesses' expenses

21. (1) Expenses allowed under subparagraph 19(d) shall be assessed by the Secretary on the scale used in civil proceedings in a subordinate court and shall be paid by the appellant or the Government as the Special Commissioners may direct.

(2) In a case where section 67 applies, the Special Commissioners may direct that expenses assessed under subparagraph (1) shall be paid by the representative (within the meaning of that section); and, where they so direct, subsections (4) to (7) of that section shall apply as if those expenses were tax due from the representative.

Procedure

22. Subject to this Act and any rules made under paragraph 154(1)(d), the Special Commissioners may regulate the procedure at the hearing of an appeal and their own procedure.

Deciding orders

23. As soon as may be after completing the hearing of an appeal, the Special Commissioners shall give their decision on the appeal in the form of an order which shall be known as a deciding order and which, subject to this Schedule, shall be final.

23A. For the purpose of paragraph 23, “deciding order” includes an order where the Special Commissioners dismiss an appeal under paragraph 17.

24. A deciding order may, if the Special Commissioners think fit, be read or summarized in the presence of the parties by one of the Special Commissioners or the Secretary; but the fact that any deciding order is not so read or summarized shall not affect its validity and the fact that any deciding order is so read or summarized shall not relieve the Secretary of his obligation under paragraph 44 to cause a copy of the order to be served on the parties.

25. If the Special Commissioners differ among themselves as to the decision to be given on an appeal—

(a) the opinion of the majority shall prevail; and

- (b) the Special Commissioner who dissents from the majority view shall sign the deciding order as required by paragraph 44 (unless he is incapacitated from doing so as mentioned in that paragraph), but in doing so shall indicate the fact of his dissent and may, if he thinks fit, add a statement of his reasons therefor.

26. Subject to paragraphs 25 and 31, a deciding order shall either confirm or discharge the assessment to which the appeal relates or shall direct the Director General to amend the assessment; and, where it directs amendment, the order shall—

- (a) specify the appropriate amendments;
- (b) require the appropriate amendments to be determined by agreement between the parties or, failing agreement, by the Special Commissioners; or
- (c) specify some of the appropriate amendments and require the others to be so determined.

27. Where a deciding order is made pursuant to subparagraph 26(b) or (c) in respect of an appeal, section 101 shall apply as if references to the order were substituted for references to the notice of appeal under subsection 99(1) (any agreement come to pursuant to the order being deemed to be and to have the same effect as an agreement of the kind mentioned in subsection 101(2)) and section 102 shall apply as it applies on a failure to come to an agreement of that kind:

Provided that—

- (a) if a notice of appeal is filed under paragraph 34 in respect of the order, section 102 shall not come into operation until all proceedings respecting the case have been completed; and
- (b) if the Director General has cause to send the appeal forward to the Special Commissioners pursuant to section 102, he shall do so by sending to the Secretary and the appellant a written statement that a further hearing has become necessary by reason of the parties' failure to agree.

28. Where an appeal is set down for further hearing pursuant to paragraph 27, it shall not be necessary for the further hearing to take place before the same Special Commissioners as those who heard the earlier proceedings.

Vexatious and frivolous appeals

29. (1) Where on an appeal the Special Commissioners do not discharge or amend an assessment, they may, if in their opinion the appeal was vexatious or frivolous, order the appellant to pay as costs to the Special Commissioners a sum not exceeding five thousand ringgit.

(2) In a case where section 67 applies, the Special Commissioners may order the representative (within the meaning of that section) to pay costs under subparagraph (1); and, where they do so, subsections (4) to (7) of that section shall apply as if those costs were tax due from the representative.

30. Subject to any representation made under paragraph 31 a sum ordered to be paid under paragraph 29 shall become due and payable on the expiration of a period of seven days starting on the date when the order for payment was served on the appellant or the representative (within the meaning of section 67), as the case may be, and shall be recoverable as a debt due to the Government.

31. (1) The Special Commissioners may make an order as to costs under paragraph 29 notwithstanding that the appellant was not present at the hearing of the appeal.

(2) Where the Special Commissioners make an order as to costs under paragraph 29—

- (a) it shall be included in the deciding order made under paragraph 26; and
- (b) the appellant or the representative (within the meaning of section 67) may within twenty-one days of the service on him of the deciding order make representation orally or in writing to the Special Commissioners showing cause why the order as to costs ought not to have been made or why the costs ordered ought to be reduced, and the Special Commissioners if satisfied with the representation may remit the costs ordered either wholly or partly.

Costs and fees

32. Except as expressly provided in this Schedule, the Special Commissioners shall not make any order as to the payment of the costs of an appeal.

32A. (1) Except as provided in paragraph 30, any sum ordered to be paid by the Special Commissioners as costs shall become due and payable on the order for payment being made and shall be recoverable—

- (a) in the case of costs ordered to be paid to the appellant, as a debt due to him; and
- (b) in the case of costs ordered to be paid to the Special Commissioners or the Director General, as a debt due to the Government.

(2) In any proceedings for the recovery of costs ordered by the Special Commissioners the production of a certificate signed by one of the Special Commissioners giving the names and addresses of the persons to whom and by whom such costs are to be paid and the amount of the costs due shall be sufficient evidence of the amount so due and sufficient authority for the court to give judgment for that amount.

33. (Deleted by Act A108).

Appeals to the High Court

34. (1) Either party to the proceedings before the Special Commissioners may appeal to the High Court on a question of law against a deciding order made in those proceedings.

(2) An appeal under subparagraph (1) shall be by way of a notice in writing filed with the Secretary within twenty-one days from the date of the decision of the Special Commissioners.

(3) A copy of the notice of appeal shall be extended to the Registry of the High Court within the time limited for the filing of an appeal as specified under subparagraph (2).

(4) A duplicate copy of the notice of appeal must be served by the appellant on every other party to the proceedings within the time limited for the filing of an appeal as specified under subparagraph (2).

(5) The appellant shall, within the time limited for the filing of an appeal as specified under subparagraph (2), apply to the Secretary in writing for the notes of proceedings and the grounds of decision.

(6) The appellant shall pay to the Secretary at the time of the filing of the notice of appeal such fee as may be prescribed by the Minister in respect of each deciding order against which he seeks to appeal.

(7) The High Court may, on the application of an intending appellant made by a notice of application, extend the period to file a notice of appeal.

34A. (1) The appellant shall, within sixty days from the date of the filing of the notice of appeal, prepare and file to the High Court a record of appeal in a number of copies as may be required by the Court.

(2) The record of appeal shall contain—

“allowance” means any allowance made under any provision of any repealed law corresponding to any provision of Schedule 3 or any amount written off under any repealed law for any year of assessment for which no initial or annual allowance falls to be made in relation to an industrial building or any amount which was deducted from the capital expenditure under the provisions of any repealed law in connection with the computation of the value of an asset acquired before the basis period for the first year of assessment under any repealed law;

“capital expenditure” means capital expenditure as defined in any repealed law for the purposes of any provisions thereof corresponding to any provisions of Schedule 3.

(3) In the application of subparagraphs (1) and (2) in relation to a person and an asset if, but for this subparagraph, regard would be had to the same amount in respect of any capital expenditure or allowance by reference to more than one repealed law, regard shall be had to that amount only by reference to the appropriate repealed law, that is to say—

- (a) the repealed law by virtue of which he is resident in the territory to which the law applies; or
- (b) if there are two or more such laws, one of those laws elected by him when he first makes a claim for an allowance under Schedule 3 in respect of the asset or, in default of such an election, specified by the Director General.

Schedule 3:69

57. Where for the purpose of this Schedule and Schedule 3 it is necessary to have regard to an allowance made under any repealed law, paragraph 69 of Schedule 3 shall apply (with such modifications as may be necessary) by reference to the repealed law relating to any such allowance.

Schedule 3:75

58. (1) In relation to a person, an asset and a business of his, if effect cannot be given or cannot be given in full to any allowance or allowances of the kind defined in subparagraph 56(2) to which paragraph 57 applies, that allowance or those allowances (or, as the case may be, the amount thereof to which effect has not been so given) shall be deemed to be an allowance to be made to him for the purposes of paragraph 75 of Schedule 3, the reference therein to the first subsequent year of assessment being treated as a reference to the year of assessment 1968 if there is adjusted income from that business for the basis period for that year or, in the absence of any such adjusted income, as a reference to the first year of assessment subsequent to the year of assessment 1968 for the basis period for which there is any such adjusted income:

Provided that, where this paragraph has been applied to any allowance or allowances or to any part thereof in relation to a business, this paragraph shall not apply to that allowance, those allowances or that part in relation to any other business of his.

(2) Subparagraph 56(3) shall apply to allowances affected by this paragraph as it applies to allowances within the meaning of subparagraph 56(1).

Schedule 3: general

59. Unless the context otherwise requires and subject to this Schedule, any reference in Schedule 3 to expenditure includes a reference to expenditure incurred before the basis period for the year of assessment 1968 and any reference in that Schedule to anything done or to any event includes a reference to a thing or event of the kind in question done or occurring before that basis period.

Schedule 4

60. (1) Subject to this paragraph, where in any case a person makes a claim under Schedule 4 for a deduction for a year of assessment in respect of qualifying prospecting expenditure, then, for the purposes of applying that Schedule to that case regard may be had to any such expenditure incurred (and any event which took place) not more than ten years before the end of the basis year for that year of assessment notwithstanding that the whole or part of that period of ten years elapsed before the commencement of this Act; and, whenever necessary, the reference in the proviso to paragraph 11 of that Schedule to a transaction to which section 140 applies shall be construed to include a transaction to which that section would have applied if it had been in force at the date of that transaction.

(2) Subparagraph (1) shall not apply to any expenditure incurred in Sabah or Sarawak, prior to the basis year for the year of assessment 1968 or to any expenditure with respect to which any deduction has been made under section 14A of the West Malaysian Ordinance.

Schedule 5

61. Where a notice of appeal against an assessment is given under the Sabah Ordinance or the West Malaysian Ordinance or a notice of objection to an assessment is given under the Sarawak Ordinance, then—

- (a) if the notice was given before 1 January 1968, and the hearing of the appeal has not commenced before that date, the person to whom the notice was given shall forward it to the Secretary to the Special Commissioners as soon as may be after that date;
- (b) if the notice is given after that date, it shall, notwithstanding any other provision of this Schedule, be given to the Secretary to the Special Commissioners and not to the person who would otherwise have received it, and, where a notice relating to an assessment is forwarded or given to the Secretary to the Special Commissioners in pursuance of this paragraph, an appeal against the assessment shall be deemed to have been forwarded to the Special Commissioners and shall be disposed of as nearly as may be in accordance with Schedule 5.

Application of this Act to assessment made under repealed law

61A. (1) Where an assessment under a repealed law is made on a person on or after 1 January 1972, the provisions of section 97 and Chapter 2 of Part VI of this Act shall apply to such assessment as if the assessment was made under section 90 or 91, as the case may be, of this Act.

(2) Where subparagraph (1) applies, the provisions to the contrary relating to appeal or objection against an assessment contained in a repealed law shall not apply.

Income related back

62. Where—

- (a) by the operation of this Act any income of a person from a source of his is to be regarded as income receivable in respect of a period before the basis period for the year of assessment 1968; and

- (b) that income would have been gross income for the pre-basis period for a pre-year of assessment if this Act had been in operation at the material time, that income, if not otherwise subject to previous tax, shall be treated as income for the year of assessment under the appropriate repealed law which corresponds to that pre-year of assessment or, if there is no such corresponding year of assessment, as income for the year of assessment under that law which includes the 1 July of that pre-year of assessment.

PART II

SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR SABAH

Application and power of remission

63. (1) This Part shall apply only to Sabah.

(2) Any tax paid or payable by virtue of this Part may be remitted by the Director General on grounds of undue hardship; and section 129 shall apply in relation to any tax so remitted as it applies in relation to tax remitted under that section.

Interpretation

64. In this Part—

“appropriate date”, in relation to a person, means the date on which the appropriate event mentioned in paragraphs 71 to 74 which gives him entitlement to payment of the Sabah credit of a company apportioned to him occurs;

“old tax” means income tax (excluding any tax deemed to be income tax under the Sabah Ordinance) imposed under the Sabah Ordinance;

“relevant date”, in relation to a company, means the date on which the appropriate event mentioned in paragraph 69 which gives it entitlement to payment of the Sabah credit occurs;

“Sabah credit” means the amount ascertained under paragraph 68;

“statutory income”, in relation to a person, a source and a year of assessment under the Sabah Ordinance, means the amount of his income from that source for the basis period under that Ordinance for that year of assessment increased by any balancing charge falling to be made in relation to that source for that year of assessment and reduced by any allowance falling to be made for that year under sections 14 to 21 of that Ordinance in relation to that source;

“year of assessment 1966/67” means the year of assessment commencing on 1 July 1966, under the Sabah Ordinance;

“year of assessment 1967” means the year of assessment 1967 under the Sabah Ordinance;

“year of assessment 1967/68” means the year of assessment commencing on 1 July 1967, under the Sabah Ordinance.

No chargeable income in certain cases

65. In the application of subparagraph 3(1) of this Schedule, a person shall be deemed not to have any chargeable income under the Sabah Ordinance for the year of assessment 1967/68.

Provisions as to statutory income for certain years of assessment

66. (1) In the case of a person other than a company, the aggregate of—

- (a) so much of his statutory income for the year of assessment 1967/68 from each source of his other than a source consisting of a business (or, where paragraph (b) applies, from each source of his) as bears the same proportion to that statutory income as the number of days of the interval period bears to the number of days in the basis period in relation to that source under the Sabah Ordinance for that year of assessment; and
- (b) where the accounts of a business of that person were made up for a period of twelve months ending on a day in the second half of the calendar year 1965 and the Commissioner has made a direction under subsection 28(2) of the Sabah Ordinance to treat that period as the basis period under that Ordinance for the year of assessment 1966/67, so much of what would have been the statutory income from each source of his other than a source consisting of a business for the year of assessment commencing on 1 July 1968, under the Sabah Ordinance, but for its repeal, as bears the same proportion to that statutory income as the number of days of the interval period bears to the number of days in the basis period in relation to that source under that Ordinance for the year of assessment commencing on 1 July 1968, under that Ordinance, shall be deemed to be statutory income of his for the year of assessment 1966/67 from a source of his.

(2) The amount of the statutory income of a person for the year of assessment 1966/67 from a source of his as ascertained under subparagraph (1) shall be charged to old tax for that year at the effective rate of tax; and Parts XI to XIII of the Sabah

Ordinance shall apply to that amount as if that amount had been additional chargeable income of that person for that year.

(3) Where subparagraph (1) applies to a person and in his case there is no effective rate of tax, then, if none of the sources of income of that person was possessed by him for the whole of the basis period, in relation to each source, under the Sabah Ordinance for the year of assessment 1966/67, and the amount of his statutory income ascertained under subparagraph (1) exceeds the aggregate of the statutory income from each source of that person for that year—

- (a) the effective rate of tax shall be ascertained by substituting that amount for that aggregate; and
- (b) the total of that amount and the assessable income for the year of assessment 1966/67 (or, where there is no assessable income for that year, the total of that amount and the aggregate of the statutory income, if any, from each source of that person for that year reduced by the amount of any loss falling to be deducted under section 32 of the Sabah Ordinance in ascertaining the assessable income of that person for that year) shall be charged to old tax for that year at the effective rate of tax so ascertained; and Parts XI to XIII of the Sabah Ordinance shall apply as if that total (or, as the case may be, that total as so reduced) had been the chargeable income of that person for that year and that effective rate of tax had been the rate set forth in Part I of the Third Schedule to that Ordinance in relation to that person for that year.

(4) Where subparagraph (1) applies to a person and in his case the amount of any loss or the aggregate of the amount of any losses falling to be deducted under section 32 of the Sabah Ordinance in ascertaining the assessable income of that person for the year of assessment 1966/67 exceeds the aggregate of the statutory income from each source of that person for that year, the excess shall be deducted from the amount of his statutory income ascertained under subparagraph (1); and in the application of paragraph 18 in relation to that person, regard shall be had only to the balance (if any) of any such loss or losses after the application of this subparagraph.

(5) Where by the operation of paragraph 62 any income of a person from a source falls to be treated as income for the year of assessment 1967/68, that income—

- (a) shall be added to his statutory income from that source for the year of assessment 1967/68; or
- (b) where he has no statutory income from that source for that year—
 - (i) if there is an amount of loss in relation to that source (being a loss which would fall to be deducted under section 32 of the Sabah Ordinance, but for its repeal, in ascertaining the assessable income for that year) the amount of that loss shall be reduced by the amount of that income or where that income exceeds that loss the excess shall be deemed to be statutory income from that source for that year;

- (ii) if there is no such loss, the amount of that income shall be taken to be his statutory income from that source for that year, and this paragraph shall apply to that loss as so reduced or, as the case may be, that statutory income.

(6) For the purposes of this paragraph, except where the context in subparagraphs (3) and (4) otherwise requires—

“basis period”, in a case where a person other than a company possesses a source for a part or parts, but not for the whole, of a basis period, is to be construed as meaning that part or those parts of the basis period in question;

“effective rate of tax” in relation to a person, means the rate determined by dividing the amount of old tax chargeable on the chargeable income (excluding any additional chargeable income created under subparagraph (2)) of that person for the year of assessment 1966/67 by the amount of the assessable income of that person for that year;

“interval period”, in relation to the year of assessment 1967/68 or the year of assessment commencing on 1 July 1968, under the Sabah Ordinance means that part of the basis period for that year which elapsed before 1 January 1967.

Ascertainment of old tax payable by company

67. For the purposes of this Part, in the case of a company the accounts of a business of whom were made up for a period of twelve months ending on a day in the calendar year 1966 other than 31 December (being a company with respect to which the Commissioner has not made a direction under subsection 28(2) of the Sabah Ordinance to treat that period as the basis period under that Ordinance for the year of assessment 1967) there shall be ascertained—

- (a) the total amount of all old tax payable by that company, whether assessed under one or more assessments for that year of assessment, that total being computed after giving any relief due to that company for that year on or before the relevant date by virtue of section 41 or 43 of the Sabah Ordinance; and
- (b) the amount of that total paid by the company on or before the relevant date and not refunded or repaid to it on or before the relevant date.

Ascertainment of Sabah credit

68. (1) There shall be ascertained with respect to the old tax paid by a company as ascertained under paragraph 67 the Sabah credit in accordance with the following subparagraphs.

(2) In the case of a company to which paragraph 67 applies, the Sabah credit shall be so much of the old tax paid for the year of assessment 1967 as bears the same proportion to that old tax as the total of the statutory income from each source for the overlapping period bears to the assessable income of the company for that year.

(3) In this paragraph—

“overlapping period” means that part of the basis period under the Sabah Ordinance in relation to a source for a year of assessment under that Ordinance which overlaps the basis period in relation to that source for a year of assessment under this Act;

“total of the statutory income from each source for the overlapping period”, in relation to a company, means so much of the aggregate of the statutory income from each source of that company for a year of assessment under the Sabah Ordinance, reduced by any amount falling to be deducted under section 32 of that Ordinance in ascertaining the assessable income of the company under that Ordinance for that year, as bears the same proportion to that aggregate as so reduced as the aggregate of the number of days of the overlapping period in relation to each source bears to the aggregate of the number of days in the basis period in relation to each source under that Ordinance for that year.

Events in which Sabah credit is payable to company

69. (1) Subject to paragraph 76, the Sabah credit of a company shall be payable upon the date of the occurrence of such one of the following events as first occurs in relation to the company, that is to say, on the dissolution of the company after 31 December 1967, or on its satisfying the Director General that it has not gone into dissolution before 1 January 1988, or, in the case of a company which ceases to have income (other than dividends) derived from Malaysia in the basis year for a year of assessment, on its satisfying the Director General that it was not resident for that basis year or for a year subsequent thereto and that it is not likely to have any income (other than dividends) derived from Malaysia in any of the two years following that basis year or, as the case may be, that subsequent year:

Provided that this paragraph shall not apply on the dissolution of a particular company after 31 December 1967, if at or about the time of the dissolution any of the assets of that particular company available for distribution to its members are transferred—

- (a) to a company which together with that particular company is a member of the same group;
- (b) to a company more than fifty per cent of the shares of which are held by members of that particular company; or
- (c) to the members of that particular company or to a person or persons having control of that particular company within the meaning of section 139.

(2) Where the proviso to subparagraph (1) applies on the transfer of a company's assets, the Sabah credit to which, but for that proviso, the company would have been entitled shall be paid in accordance with the following subparagraphs.

(3) Subject to subparagraph (4)—

- (a) where all the assets of a company are transferred to the members of the company or to persons having control of the company within the meaning of section 139, the Sabah credit of the company shall be apportioned among them in the proportion in which they held as beneficial owners the ordinary share capital of the company at the date of its dissolution ("ordinary share capital" here having the same meaning as in the definition of "director" in subsection 2(1)), or, in the case of persons having such control, in the proportion in which they held their controlling interest, and shall be paid to each of them on the appropriate date;
- (b) where all the assets of a company are transferred to a single person having such control, the Sabah credit of the company shall be regarded as his and shall be paid to him on the appropriate date.

(4) Where a member or person to whom a Sabah credit (or any portion thereof) is to be paid under subparagraph (3) is a company, the amount to be paid shall be treated as a Sabah credit of the company and subparagraph (1) shall apply with respect to the payment of that credit.

(5) Where subparagraph (3) does not apply, the Sabah credit of a company shall be treated as a Sabah credit of the transferee and subparagraph (1) shall apply with respect to the payment of that credit.

(6) In a case where there are two or more transfers (other than transfers to members of the company or to a person or persons having control of the company within the meaning of section 139) to which the proviso to subparagraph (1) applies, subparagraph (5) shall be applied by making such apportionment of the Sabah credit among the transferees as the Director General considers to be reasonably necessary in order to give proper effect to subparagraph (5) in the circumstances.

Credit payable to company before dissolution in certain cases

70. Where the Director General is satisfied that the dissolution of a company is imminent and that the company will be entitled on its dissolution to the Sabah credit, he may make the amount of the Sabah credit available to the liquidator of the company; and, if the company is not dissolved within three months (or such longer period as the Director General may consider reasonable in the circumstances) after the making available of that amount to the liquidator, it shall be the duty of the liquidator to return that amount to the Director General upon being called upon to do so.

Events in which company's credit apportioned to individual is payable

71. Subject to paragraph 76, so much of the Sabah credit of a company as is apportioned under subparagraph 69(3) to an individual who was a member of that company at the time of its dissolution shall be payable on the date of the occurrence of such one of the following events as first occurs in relation to him:

- (a) on his satisfying the Director General that he attained the age of fifty-five years before 1 January 1968;
- (b) on his death at any time after 31 December 1967;
- (c) on his attaining at any time after 31 December 1967, the age of fifty-five years;
- (d) on his departure from Malaysia, if he is not a citizen and if he satisfies the Director General as to the matters set out in paragraph 72;
- (e) if he was not resident for the basis year (being the year in which the company was dissolved or a year subsequent thereto) for a year of assessment and is not a citizen, on his satisfying the Director General that in that basis year or prior thereto he ceased to have any income (other than dividends) derived from Malaysia and that he is not likely to have any income (other than dividends) derived from Malaysia in any of the two years following that basis year;
- (f) on his satisfying the Director General that he was not entitled before 1 January 1988, to payment of the amount of the Sabah credit apportioned to him;
- (g) on his satisfying the Director General that he was prevented by serious disability from being gainfully employed for a period of not less than twelve months and during that period he did not have any source of income; or

- (h) on his satisfying the Director General that he is in receipt of a pension derived from Malaysia and that he does not have and is not likely to have any other source of income:

Provided that subparagraph (d) shall not apply to the individual if at the time of his departure from Malaysia he has any source (being a source the income from which is wholly or partly derived from Malaysia) other than—

- (i) a source from which dividends arise;
- (ii) a source from which interest arises;
- (iii) a source consisting of a pension derived from Malaysia; or
- (iv) a source consisting of an employment which will cease upon the expiration of a period of leave which commences on his departure or at the end of a period of travel which commences on his departure.

Matters as to which Director General is to be satisfied for the purposes of paragraph 71

72. For the purposes of subparagraph 71(d), an individual is required to satisfy the Director General that the individual—

- (a) has not at the date of his departure from Malaysia obtained a Malaysian entry or re-entry permit or other like document;
- (b) has not at the date under any written law any right of entry or re-entry into Malaysia; and
- (c) is not likely to be resident in any of the basis years for the five years of assessment commencing with the year of assessment which follows the year of assessment in the basis year for which the departure took place.

Trustees and executors

73. Subject to paragraph 76, so much of the Sabah credit of a company as is apportioned under subparagraph 69(3) to the trustees of a trust or the executors of a deceased person (the trustees or the executors, as the case may be, being members of the company at the time of its dissolution) shall be payable—

- (a) on the termination of the trust or on the ascertainment of the residue of the estate of the deceased person, as the case may be;

- (b) on their satisfying the Director General that the trust has not been terminated (or, as the case may be, the residue ascertained) before 1 January 1988; or
- (c) where the trust body ceases, or the executors cease, to have income (other than dividends) derived from Malaysia in the basis year (being the year in which the company was dissolved or a year subsequent thereto) for a year of assessment, on their satisfying the Director General that the trust body was not, or the executors were not, resident for that basis year, and that the trust body is not, or the executors are not, likely to have any income (other than dividends) derived from Malaysia in any of the two years following that basis year.

Provisions applicable when paragraphs 71 to 73 do not apply

74. Subject to paragraph 76, so much of the Sabah credit of a company as is apportioned under subparagraph 69(3) to a person (being a member of the company at the time of its dissolution) to whom none of paragraphs 71 to 73 applies shall be payable—

- (a) on application to the Director General in the year of assessment 1988; or
- (b) on application to the Director General before that year if the Director General is satisfied that there are circumstances similar to those in which a company would be entitled to payment of a Sabah credit before that year.

Married women

75. Where the Sabah credit of a company is apportioned under subparagraph 69(3) to a woman who was a member of the company at the time of its dissolution, so much of that credit as is so apportioned to her shall be paid if she is married, whether at that time or subsequently thereto, and before the date on which she would otherwise have been entitled to payment thereof to her husband on the appropriate date in relation to him as if that credit had been apportioned to him:

Provided that—

- (a) where the husband becomes entitled to payment of the credit so apportioned by virtue of subparagraph 71(d), that paragraph shall be so modified as to require the husband to satisfy the Director General as to the matters set out in paragraph 72 not only in respect of himself but also in respect of his wife, or, if paragraph 72 is not applicable to her, as to the matters set out in subparagraph 71(e) in respect of his wife;

- (b) where the husband becomes so entitled by virtue of subparagraph 71(e), that paragraph shall be so modified as to require the husband to satisfy the Director General as to the matters set out therein not only in respect of himself but also in respect of his wife, or, where subparagraph 71(e) is not applicable to her as to the matters set out in paragraph 72 in respect of his wife.

Power to set off credit against tax payable

76. Notwithstanding the foregoing paragraphs of this Part, where in any calendar year any company becomes entitled to payment of a Sabah credit or a person becomes entitled to payment of the Sabah credit of a company apportioned to him, the Director General may withhold payment thereof for the purposes of setting off the amount thereof against any tax or previous tax payable by that company or, as the case may be, by that person.

Construction of references to certain years of assessment

77. Where in any case regard is to be had by virtue of this Schedule to the year of assessment 1966 or 1967 under the Sabah Ordinance or to a year of assessment under the Sabah Ordinance coinciding with the calendar year 1966 or 1967, and in that case the appropriate year of assessment under that Ordinance is the year of assessment commencing on 1 July 1965, or the year of assessment 1966/67, regard shall be had to the year of assessment commencing on 1 July 1965, or the year of assessment 1966/67, as the case may be, and the basis period therefor in relation to a source, and not to the year of assessment 1966 or 1967 or the year of assessment coinciding with the calendar year 1966 or 1967, or the basis period therefor.

PART III

SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR SARAWAK

Application and power of remission

78. (1) This Part shall apply only to Sarawak.

(2) Any tax paid or payable by virtue of this Part may be remitted by the Director General on grounds of undue hardship; and section 129 shall apply in relation to any tax so remitted as it applies in relation to tax remitted under that section.

Interpretation

79. In this part—

“old tax” means the profits tax (excluding any tax deemed to be profits tax under the Sarawak Ordinance) imposed under the Sarawak Ordinance;

“relevant date”, in relation to any person means the date on which the appropriate event mentioned in paragraphs 83 to 88 which gives him entitlement to payment of the Sarawak credit occurs;

“Sarawak credit” means the amount ascertained under paragraph 82;

“year of assessment 1967” means the year of assessment 1967 under the Sarawak Ordinance.

No chargeable income in certain cases

Ascertainment of old tax payable by a person

81. In the case of a person the accounts of a business of whom were made up to a date in the calendar year 1966 other than 31 December that business being a business with respect to which the Commissioner has not made a direction under subsection 25(1) of the Sarawak Ordinance to treat that period as the period by reference to which the assessable profits or loss from the business was to be computed there shall be ascertained for the purposes of this Part—

- (a) the total amount of all profits tax payable by that person whether assessed under one or more assessments for the year of assessment 1967, that total being computed after giving any relief due to him for that year on or before the relevant date by virtue of section 59 or 61 of the Sarawak Ordinance; and
- (b) the amount of that total paid by him on or before the relevant date and not refunded or repaid to him on or before the relevant date.

Ascertainment of Sarawak credit

82. (1) There shall be ascertained with respect to the total amount of the old tax paid by a person as ascertained under paragraph 81 the Sarawak credit in accordance with the following subparagraphs.

(2) In any case to which paragraph 81 applies, the Sarawak credit of a person shall be so much of the profits tax paid by him for the year of assessment 1967 as bears the same proportion to that profits tax as the assessable profits for the overlapping period bears to the aggregate of the assessable profits from each source of his for that year reduced by the amount of any loss incurred by him which would be set off against those assessable profits under section 28 of the Sarawak Ordinance for the year of assessment 1967.

(3) In the application of subparagraph (2) to the trustees of a trust, the reference therein to profits tax paid for the year of assessment 1967 shall be taken to be a reference to so much of that profits tax paid by the trustees for that year as bears the same proportion to that profits tax as the aggregate of the assessable profits from each source of the trustees for that year, reduced first by the amount of any loss incurred by the trustees which would be set-off against those assessable profits under section 28 of the Sarawak Ordinance for the year of assessment 1967 and thereafter by so much thereof as falls to be treated as assessable profits for that year of a beneficiary or beneficiaries of the trust, bears to that aggregate reduced by the amount of any such loss for that year.

(4) In this paragraph—

“assessable profits for the overlapping period”, in relation to a person, means so much of the aggregate of the assessable profits from each source of that person under the Sarawak Ordinance for a year of assessment under that Ordinance, reduced by the amount of any loss incurred by him which would be set-off against those assessable profits under section 28 of the Sarawak Ordinance, as bears the same proportion to that aggregate as so reduced as the aggregate number of days of the overlapping period in relation to each source bears to the aggregate of the number of days of the basis period in relation to each source under that Ordinance for that year of assessment;

“overlapping period” means that part of the basis period under the Sarawak Ordinance in relation to a source for the year of assessment 1967 which overlaps the basis period in relation to that source for a year of assessment under this Act.

Events in which Sarawak credit is payable to an individual

83. Subject to paragraph 92, the Sarawak credit of an individual shall be payable upon the date of the occurrence of such one of the following events as first occurs in relation to him:

- (b) on his death at any time after 31 December 1967;
- (c) on his attaining the age of fifty-five years after 31 December 1967;
- (d) on his departure from Malaysia, if he is not a citizen and if he satisfies the Director General as to the matters set out in paragraph 84;
- (e) if he was not resident in the basis year (being the year in which he ceases to have income, other than dividends, derived from Malaysia or a year subsequent thereto) for a year of assessment and is not a citizen, on his satisfying the Director General that he is not likely to have any income (other than dividends) derived from Malaysia in any of the two years following that basis year;
- (f) on his satisfying the Director General that he was not entitled to payment of the Sarawak credit prior to 1 January 1988;
- (g) on his satisfying the Director General that he was prevented by serious disability from being gainfully employed for a period of not less than twelve months and during that period he did not have any source of income; or
- (h) on his satisfying the Director General that he is in receipt of a pension derived from Malaysia and that he does not have and is not likely to have any other source of income:

Provided that subparagraph (d) shall not apply to the individual if at the time of his departure from Malaysia he has any source (being a source the income from which is wholly or partly derived from Malaysia) other than—

- (i) a source from which dividends arise;
- (ii) a source from which interest arises;
- (iii) a source consisting of a pension derived from Malaysia; or

Provided that this paragraph shall not apply on the dissolution of a particular company after 31 December 1967, if at or about the time of the dissolution any of the assets of that particular company available for distribution to its members are transferred—

- (a) to a company which together with that particular company is in the same group;

(3) Subject to subparagraph (4)—

(a) where all the assets of a company are transferred to the members of the company or to persons having control of the company within the meaning of section 139, the Sarawak credit of the company shall be apportioned among them in the proportion in which they held as beneficial owners the ordinary share capital of the company at the date of its dissolution (“ordinary share capital” here having the same meaning as in the definition of “director” in subsection 2(1)), or, in the case of persons having such control, in the proportion in which they held their controlling interest, and shall be paid to each of them on the relevant date as if the amount apportioned to each were a Sarawak credit of his: and

(4) Where a member or person to whom a Sarawak credit (or any portion thereof) is to be paid under subparagraph (3) is a company, the amount to be paid shall be treated as a Sarawak credit of the company and subparagraph (1) shall apply with respect to the payment of that credit.

(5) Where subparagraph (3) does not apply, the Sarawak credit of a company shall be treated as a Sarawak credit of the transferee and subparagraph (1) shall apply with respect to the payment of that credit.

(6) In a case where there are two or more transfers (other than transfers to members of the company or to a person or persons having control of the company within the meaning of section 139) to which the proviso to subparagraph (1) applies, subparagraph (5) shall be applied by making such apportionment of the Sarawak credit among the transferees as the Director General considers to be reasonably necessary in order to give proper effect to subparagraph (5) in the circumstances.

Sarawak credit payable to company before dissolution in certain cases

86. Where the Director General is satisfied that the dissolution of a company is imminent and that the company will be entitled on its dissolution to the Sarawak credit, he may make the amount of the Sarawak credit available to the liquidator of the company; and, if the company is not dissolved within three months (or such longer period as the Director General may consider reasonable in the circumstances) after the making available of that amount to the liquidator, it shall be the duty of the liquidator to return that amount to the Director General upon being called upon to do so.

Trustees and executors

87. Subject to paragraph 92, the Sarawak credit of the trustees of a trust or the executors of the estate of a deceased person shall be payable—

Married persons: general

89. Where section 47A of the Sarawak Ordinance applies to a married woman and her husband for the year of assessment 1967, then, in the application of the foregoing paragraphs of this Part to the husband—

- (a) a source of hers shall be taken to be a source of his;

- (c) any old tax paid by her for the year of assessment 1967 shall be treated as paid by him.

Married persons: disposal of wife's credit

90. Where—

- (b) a marriage takes place after 31 December 1967, the wife of that marriage shall not be entitled to any Sarawak credit to which she would otherwise have been entitled, and any such credit shall be payable to the husband of that marriage as if it were a credit ascertained as regards him under paragraphs 81 and 82 or under paragraph 85.

Power to set-off Sarawak credit against tax payable

92. Notwithstanding the foregoing paragraphs of this Part, where any person becomes entitled to a Sarawak credit in any calendar year, the Director General may withhold payment thereof for the purposes of setting off the amount thereof against any tax or previous tax payable by that person.

Certain income to be disregarded

93. (1) Where in the calendar year 1967 a person ceased to possess a source the income from which is chargeable to profits tax under the Sarawak Ordinance, then, if by reference to income from that source up to the date of cessation an assessment has been made under the Sarawak Ordinance for the year of assessment 1968 under that Ordinance, the income from that source included in that assessment shall be disregarded for the purposes of this Act unless that assessment falls to be amended for any reason on or after 1 January 1968.

(2) Where in the calendar year 1967 a person ceased to possess a source the income from which is chargeable to salaries tax under the Sarawak Ordinance for that year of assessment, then, if—

(a) that person does not have income from any other source for the basis period in relation to any such other source for the year of assessment 1968; and

(b) subparagraph (1) does not apply to him,

paragraph 80 shall not apply to that person and to the income from that source; and where this subparagraph applies to a person his income from that source which is chargeable to salaries tax under that Ordinance for the year of assessment 1967 shall be disregarded for the purposes of this Act.

(3) Where paragraph 80 applies to a person and by the operation of paragraph 62 any income of a person from a source chargeable to salaries tax under the Sarawak Ordinance falls to be treated as gross income for the pre-basis period for a pre-year of assessment, paragraph 62 shall be so modified in its application to that person and that income to treat that income as being income for the year of assessment under the Sarawak Ordinance which coincides with that pre-basis period.

Allowance for industrial building under Sarawak Ordinance to continue

94. In the case of a building which is an industrial building under the Sarawak Ordinance, the rate at which annual allowances were given in respect of that industrial building under the Sarawak Ordinance shall continue to apply to that building, and the allowances to which a person is entitled by virtue of paragraph 6 of the Fifth Schedule to the Sarawak Ordinance shall be given for the remainder of the years for which that allowance would have been given but for the repeal of that Ordinance instead of any allowance to which that person might otherwise be entitled under this Act.

PART IV

SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR PENINSULAR MALAYSIA

Application and power of remission

95. (1) This Part shall apply only to Peninsular Malaysia.

(2) Any tax paid or payable by virtue of this Part may be remitted by the Director General on grounds of undue hardship; and section 129 shall apply in relation to any tax so remitted as it applies in relation to tax remitted under that section.

“relevant date”, in relation to any person, means the date on which the appropriate event mentioned in paragraphs 107 to 113 which gives him entitlement to payment of the West Malaysian credit occurs;

“statutory income”, in relation to a source and a year of assessment under the West Malaysian Ordinance, means the amount of the income from that source for the basis period under the West Malaysian Ordinance in relation to that source for a year of assessment under that Ordinance increased by any balancing charge falling to be made in relation to that source for that year and reduced by any allowance falling to be made for that year under sections 16 to 22A of that Ordinance in relation to that source;

“West Malaysian credit” means the amount ascertained under paragraph 102;

“year of assessment 1967” means the year of assessment 1967 under the West Malaysian Ordinance.

No statutory income in certain cases

97. Where a person in the calendar year 1967 commenced to carry on a business or commenced to exercise an employment or commenced to derive income from a source other than a business or an employment (being a source of a kind to which subsection 31(6) of the West Malaysian Ordinance would, but for this paragraph, have applied for the year of assessment 1967), he shall be deemed not to have any statutory income from that source for the year of assessment 1967.

Provisions for certain cases where subsection 31(5) or (7) of West Malaysian Ordinance would have been applicable

98. (1) Subject to paragraph 99, where a person in the calendar year 1965 or 1966 commenced to carry on a business or commenced to exercise an employment or commenced to derive income from a source of the kind referred to in paragraph 97, the following subparagraphs shall apply if subsection 31(5) or (7) of the West Malaysian Ordinance would, but for its repeal, have applied in relation to any such source for the year of assessment 1968 under that Ordinance and the year of assessment 1967.

(2) With respect to the year of assessment 1967, the calendar year 1967 shall be taken to be the basis period in relation to any such source for that year of assessment, if the income for that basis period is greater than what would, but for this paragraph, have been the basis period under the West Malaysian Ordinance for that year of assessment, in relation to that source.

(3) With respect to the year of assessment 1968, the calendar year 1968 shall be taken to be the basis period for that year of assessment, in relation to any such source.

(4) With respect to the year of assessment 1969, the person in question shall be deemed not to have statutory income from any source of the kind in question.

Paragraph 98 not to apply in certain cases

99. Paragraph 98 shall not apply in relation to a person and a source if—

- (a) there is an acquisition (as defined in paragraph 105) of that source; or
- (b) that source being a source the income from which falls within a particular paragraph of section 4, there is an acquisition by him of a new source (the income from which falls under that paragraph of section 4) prior to 1 January 1970, and the Director General does not, having regard to all the circumstances of the case, direct that this paragraph shall not apply, and all such assessments or additional assessments or repayments of tax shall be made as may be necessary in consequence of this paragraph.

Tax chargeable for year of assessment 1969

100. (1) Notwithstanding subparagraph 98(4), for the purposes of this paragraph the statutory income of a person from a source for the year of assessment 1968 (being a source in relation to which the calendar year 1968 is to be taken to be the basis period for that year of assessment) shall be taken into account in ascertaining the chargeable income of that person for the year of assessment 1969 as if that statutory income were statutory income of his from that source for the year of assessment 1969 and there shall be ascertained the tax chargeable on the chargeable income so ascertained for the year of assessment 1969.

(2) In the case of a person to whom subparagraph (1) applies, the tax chargeable for the year of assessment 1969 on the chargeable income (ascertained without having regard to subparagraph (1)) for that year shall be taken to be so much of the tax chargeable as ascertained under subparagraph (1) as bears to the tax so ascertained the same proportion as the total income of that person for that year ascertained without having regard to subparagraph (1) bears to the total income of that person for that year ascertained by having regard to that subparagraph.

Ascertainment of old tax payable by a person

101. (1) For the purposes of this Part, there shall be ascertained—

- (a) the total amount of all old tax payable by a person, whether assessed under one or more assessments, for the year of assessment 1967, that total being computed after giving any relief due to him for that year, on or before the relevant date, by virtue of section 44 or 46 of the West Malaysian Ordinance; and
- (b) the amount of that total paid by him on or before the relevant date and not refunded or repaid to him on or before the relevant date.

(2) In ascertaining under subparagraph (1) the total amount of all old tax payable by a person for the year of assessment 1967 and the amount of that total paid by him, any old tax payable by reason of subparagraph 98(2) for that year and the amount of old tax paid in respect thereof shall be disregarded.

Ascertainment of West Malaysian credit

102. (1) Subject to paragraphs 103 and 104 with respect to the amount of the old tax paid by a person as ascertained under paragraph 101, there shall be ascertained an amount (in this Part referred to as the West Malaysian credit) which bears the same proportion to the amount so paid as the total amount of his statutory income bears to the assessable income of that person for the year of assessment 1967.

(2) In the application of subparagraph (1) to the trustees of a trust, the reference therein to old tax paid for the year of assessment 1967 shall be taken to be a reference to so much of that old tax as the aggregate of the statutory income of the trust body from all sources for that year reduced first by any amount falling to be deducted under subsection 33(2) of the West Malaysian Ordinance in ascertaining the assessable income of the trust body for that year and thereafter by so much of that aggregate (as so reduced) as falls to be treated as statutory income for that year of a beneficiary or beneficiaries of the trust, bears to the assessable income of the trust body for that year.

(3) In this paragraph “total amount of his statutory income” means the aggregate of his statutory income for the year of assessment 1967 from each source of income of a kind to which subsection 31(5) or (7) of the West Malaysian Ordinance would have applied (but for its repeal) at some time subsequent to that year, less any amount falling to be deducted under subsection 33(2) of that Ordinance in ascertaining the assessable income for that year.

Exclusion and inclusion of certain income for purposes of paragraph 102

103. For the purposes of paragraph 102, in ascertaining in relation to a person the total amount of his statutory income as therein mentioned—

- (a) there shall be excluded—
 - (i) statutory income of that person from a source to which paragraph 97 or 98 applies;
 - (ii) income of his received in West Malaysia from outside West Malaysia in respect of which there is any statutory income of his for the year of assessment 1967, if he is not ordinarily resident for the basis year for the year of assessment 1968; and
- (b) there shall be included, if paragraph 104 is applicable to him, the amount of his statutory income from any source therein referred to for the year of assessment 1967.

Provisions consequent upon acquisition of source

104. Where the circumstances are such that a person has an amount of statutory income from a source (in this paragraph referred to as the old source) of a kind to which subsection 31(5) or (7) of the West Malaysian Ordinance has applied (or, but for this paragraph, would have applied) for both the year of assessment 1967 and the preceding year of assessment under the West Malaysian Ordinance, then, if—

- (a) there is an acquisition of the old source on or after 15 June 1967; or
- (b) the old source being a source the income from which falls within any paragraph of subsection 10(1) of the West Malaysian Ordinance, there is an acquisition by him of a new source (the income from which falls or would have fallen under that paragraph of the West Malaysian Ordinance but for its repeal) prior to 1 January 1969, and the Director General does not, having regard to all the circumstances of the case, direct that this paragraph shall not apply, subsection 31(1) or (2), as the case may be, of the West Malaysian Ordinance shall apply to him in relation to the old source for both those years, and all such assessments or additional assessments or repayments of old tax under that Ordinance (or, if subsection 31(5) or (7) has been applied to him in relation to the old source, all such assessments or additional assessments or repayments of old tax under that Ordinance) shall be made as may be necessary in consequence of this subparagraph.

Meaning of “acquisition”

105. In subsubparagraph 99(a) and in subsubparagraph 104(a) “acquisition” means acquisition of a source—

Additional provisions where subparagraph 104(a) applies

106. Where subparagraph 104(a) applies to a person and an old source, then, if that source is the only source of his in 1967 or if all sources of his ceased in 1967, the West Malaysian credit to the payment of which he would otherwise be entitled under this Part shall be payable to the person who acquired that old source at the relevant date in relation to that last-mentioned person and, where an old source was acquired by more than one person or two or more old sources were acquired by different persons, that credit shall be apportioned between the acquirers in such proportion as the Director General having regard to the circumstances considers just and reasonable and shall be payable to each of them on the relevant date as if the amount apportioned to each were a West Malaysian credit ascertained as regards him.

Events in which West Malaysian credit is payable to individual

107. Subject to paragraph 117, the West Malaysian credit of an individual shall be payable upon the date of the occurrence of such one of the following events as first occurs in relation to him:

Provided that this paragraph shall not apply on the dissolution of a particular company after 31 December 1967, if at or about the time of the dissolution any of the assets of that particular company available for distribution to its members are transferred—

(b) where all the assets of a company are transferred to a single person having such control, the West Malaysian credit of the company shall be regarded as his and shall be paid to him on the relevant date.

(4) Where a member or person to whom a West Malaysian credit (or any portion thereof) is to be paid under subparagraph (3) is a company, the amount to be paid shall be treated as a West Malaysian credit of the company and subparagraph (1) shall apply with respect to the payment of that credit.

(5) Where subparagraph (3) does not apply, the West Malaysian credit of the company shall be treated as a West Malaysian credit of the transferee and subparagraph (1) shall apply with respect to the payment of that credit.

(6) In a case where there are two or more transfers (other than transfers to members of the company or to a person or persons having control of the company within the meaning of section 139) to which the proviso to subparagraph (1) applies, subparagraph (5) shall be applied by making such apportionment of the West Malaysian credit among the transferees as the Director General considers to be reasonably necessary in order to give proper effect to subparagraph (5) in the circumstances.
